Warning of impending repetition of the recent floods which swept Georgia was issued Wednesday by C. F. von Herrmann, local United States meteorologist, as a new gulf storm hurled its advance agents through Georgia and prepared to strike heavily at the coast. With the ground already saturated throughout the state from the excessive rains of the past few months, and the coming storm threatening to deluge Georgia with additional inches of precipitation, Mr. von Herrmann said that he expects the rivers to rise rapidly within the next few days, and that there is serious danger of another flood, as the rain water cannot enter the ground but will run off into the rivers.

The barometer began falling at 10 o'clock Wednesday morning and has dropped steadily since, while the high pressure area over the Ohio valley increased in intensity, and is now holding back the advance of the storm enough to practically insure Georgia of heavy and almost continuous rains today.

Fourteen stations in Georgia reported one inch or more of precipitation in the bulletin received by the local weather bureau Wednesday morning, and up to 4 o'clock Wednesday afternoon the precipitation here had reached 1.68 inches since the rain started Tuesday night. Atlanta will receive probably an inch and a half more of rain by tonight, Mr. von Herrmann said.

The tropical storm is moving up steadily from the gulf, and is expected to hit the coast between Appalachicola and Pensacola this morning, and then will move from southwest to north-west over central Georgia, accompanied by continual and probably general heavy rains, the weather man said. He expects that the winds will not go above normal velocity.

Meanwhile, temperatures are remaining low, the weather man said. The thermometer hung between 64 and 72 on Wednesday, and will range, between 62 and 73 degrees today, Mr. von Herrmann said.

"A lot of rain today may cause a mighty bad condition in Georgia," Mr. von Herrmann said. "It would cause the rivers to rise rapidly, and possibly would cause floods. I advise the people of Georgia to take necessary precautions against flood conditions. There is a slight possibility that the storm may sweep and pass over Alabama, instead of Georgia, but right now it is pointed right at the heart of this state."

In addition to flooding Atlanta cellars, the rains are washing Candler field.

HOOVER TO SPEAK TO TENNESSEANS
ON OCTOBER SIX

Elizabethton, Tenn., September 5.—(AP)—Frank H. Lovette, chairman of a committee arranging for an industrial celebration here on October 6, announced tonight the receipt of a telegram from Horace A. Mann, southern campaign manager for Herbert Hoover, saying that the republican presidential nominee would deliver an address at the celebration.

At Mr. Mann's request, it was said, former Governor Alf Taylor, of Tennessee, will make the introductory speech. Plans are being worked out with a view of broadcasting Mr. Hoover's speech over a nation-wide radio hook-up through station WWNC, of Asheville, N. C.

The celebration, which was started last year and which local sponsors decided to make an annual occasion, will be an open air affair, and arrangements are being made for the erection of temporary seats to accommodate 5,000 persons for the candidate's address.

TO BE ONLY
SPEECH IN SOUTH

Washington, September 5.—(AP)—Elizabethton, Tenn., has been selected by Mr. Hoover for the only speech he will make in the south. He will speak at an industrial celebration there October 6.

G. O. LOWE DIES
OF BULLET WOUND

Prominent Lumber Man
Ended Life, Police Believe; Despondency Over Finances Blamed.

Grover O. Lowe, 44, manager of the Central Lumber company, early Wednesday night was found dead in his apartment at 1041 West Peachtree street, with a bullet hole through his head, believed by police to have been self-inflicted.

The body was found by A. S. Keith, who shared the apartment with him. Mr. Keith told police that he entered the bedroom shortly before dark and found his roommate lying across the bed with his feet touching the floor, and his right hand stretched out on the bed. A small-caliber revolver was found on the bed close to his hand.

The victim had been dead for more than an hour, when found. The last person known to have seen him alive, according to police reports, was the elevator boy, Branley Linder, who said that he took him to the fifth floor, where his apartment is located, at about 3:30 o'clock in the afternoon. No one in the building heard the fatal shot, it is stated.

Mr. Keith said that his friend had been in excellent health but was despondent over financial setbacks, especially a recent loss of approximately $7,500 in a transaction with a concern in Griffin.

Mr. Lowe left no note giving a reason for taking his life. Wednesday morning he had received a cheerful letter from his 38-year-old mother, Mrs. Oscar Lowe, of Center Hill, Ala.

The body was removed to the parlors of the J. Austin Dillon company and an inquest will be held at 3 o'clock this afternoon.

In addition to his mother, the victim is survived by two brothers, J. Rolan and Claude Lowe, both of Center Hill, Ala.

Democrat Chances
Bright To Carry
New England Vote

Massachusetts Is Key But Rhode Island, Connecticut and Possibly Maine
May Be Aid to Smith.

By D. FIELD BRITTE,
Associated Press Staff Writer.

Boston, September 5.—(AP)—Forty-four New England electoral votes await the November plucking, hemmed in by such delicately balanced possibilities as have rarely existed before in this northeastern orchard of normal republicanism.

Just now they are ripening at some distance from the scenes of local realignments within state borders, disturbed only occasionally by the reaching out for national issues. The local engagements will be out of the way before long, however, and the major presidential offensive with its greater objectives will bring the six New England states as a whole into an intriguing picture.

Massachusetts Key. For both republicans and democrats, Massachusetts appears to be the strategic key, by reason of its weighty 18 votes as against the seven of Connecticut, the six of Maine, five of Rhode Island and four each of Vermont and New Hampshire.

On the basis of past performances alone in these states the democrats would seem to have no overpowering reasons for encouragement now, but nevertheless they are nourishing an inspired belief that control of a majority of the combined New England electoral vote is well within the field of possibilities, they are most determinedly shooting at Massachusetts' 18 and Rhode Island's five, to total 23, one more than half of the 44 at stake.

Connecticut's Seven. Covetous eyes are turned also to Connecticut's seven votes and there are some democrats who insist that a three-state victory is not out of the question. In any case, their most serious fight is to be made in those states, by a more determined effort than has been made by the republicans in Maine, Vermont and New Hampshire.

A democratic success in New England would mean a victory for the party, and one other, this would send Alfred E. Smith out into the remaining 42.

New York, September 5.—(AP)—Prohibition and farm relief—and not the religious question, no matter how much talk there may be about it—are the two big issues in the presidential campaign, John J. Raskob, democratic national chairman, declared at national headquarters here today.

"I dislike to recognize as fact that the American people are making religion the issue of this campaign," he said. "I don't believe they are. I think the so-called religious issue is being greatly exaggerated, largely on account of the publicity it has received."

"I think the efforts of those engaged in a vicious campaign of religious bigotry will have ceased to be effective long before election day. It is difficult to conceive of the American people being influenced by propaganda tending toward spreading religious hatred—hatred of any kind, particularly religious hatred."

"I do not believe that the religious question is the big issue of this campaign. The real issues are prohibition and farm relief—prohibition in the east, farm relief in the west. The farm organizations are sold on Governor Smith's sincerity. He has the reputation of always keeping his promises and the republicans are laboring under the disadvantage of having made no gains in 1920 and 1924 of giving relief, but it has not been forthcoming."

At a press conference earlier in the day, Mr. Raskob said the future prospect for the last year.

GEORGIAN IS SEEN AS LABOR NOMINEE

Kansas City, Mo., September 5.—(United News.)—With the convening time of their convention delayed because the executive committee deliberated too long, 21 delegates to the farmer-labor party convention here tonight expected to make a presidential nominee acceptable to the American voter who cannot reconcile himself either to Hoover or Smith.

Frank Elbridge Webb, contractor, San Francisco, Calif., is understood to be slated to receive the second-hundred nomination of the party. Senator George W. Norris, Nebraska, has refused the nomination that was accorded him by the party at its Chicago convention July 11 and will J. Vereen, Moultrie, Ga., has refused the vice presidential nomination.

James A. Reed, fiery senator of Missouri, was mentioned as the likely vice presidential nominee to be selected tonight. Senator Reed left his home here Tuesday night for his fishing trip in the north and he was unaware today that he was being mentioned as a vice presidential candidate. Another prospective vice presidential nominee is L. R. Tillman, Georgia.

The heavy rains are doing serious damage to the portions of the field where there is no grass. Mr. Hartsfield said Atlanta-New York air mail was dispatched from this city by train Wednesday night because bad weather as far north as Richmond prohibited use of the plane. It was announced at Candler field. The mail was sent to Greensboro by train Tuesday night also, as Pilot Gene Brown was forced back to the flying field by bad weather after getting as far as Stone Mountain.

NOVICE IN POLITICS WISCONSIN MANNER

Milwaukee, September 5.—(AP)—A new political figure, Walter J. Kohler, industrial leader, with a platform of "business administration for the state," has won the republican nomination for governor of Wisconsin.

His victory is without precedent in the history of the state. A novice in the political arena, Kohler defeated two seasoned opponents in the state primary elections yesterday by a majority which approached 25,000 votes, with a few scattering returns still to come.

Wisconsin electors showed a disregard for factional lines in the primary and although they defeated his candidate for governor, they turned to Senator Robert M. La Follette for the nomination for reelection.

La Follette scored a personal triumph in the primary, being given a vote double that of his opponent, George W. Mead, Wisconsin Rapids paper manufacturer, a dry conservative republican. The glory of that victory in his quest of a full term after filling the unexpired term of his father was somewhat dimmed by the defeat of Joseph D. Beck, former congressman, whom he campaigned throughout the summer for the gubernatorial nomination.

PLAN SUPERVISION OF SCHOOL BUILDING

put into use at the earliest possible moment. There is a time as well as a financial economy interest in our effort.

Exclusive of the Commercial High school project, bids should not, we feel, exceed 24 cents a cubic foot, but they run far over that in many instances.

"The General Contractors' association has through its secretary, Hugh Roberts, repeatedly assured us that in submitting the bids, they will be with proper extension of time in which to make estimates, at least eight of their members were interested in making quotations for the work. In the opening of the other day (August 28) none of the eight mentioned by Mr. Roberts submitted proposals.

"From the standpoint of projects awarded to Palmer-Spivey and Joe Hunt, and one or two others of the projects already contracted for, the cost per cubic foot on the five projects for which bids were opened on August 28 is all in excess of a reasonable figure running as high as 34 cents per cubic foot in case of the six-classroom units at Georgia Avenue and 32 4-10, but a considerable number in the annex to Commercial High school.

Additional Involvement.

"The five jobs under consideration and all of the projects which remain to be considered in this bond issue, with but minor exceptions are additions to old buildings. For this reason it may be true that the contractors in submitting their bids have introduced contingencies to protect themselves against unforeseen difficulties.

"All of the above enumerated circumstances unite to introduce a serious factor of delay in awarding said contracts and undoubtedly will militate against the letting of other contracts for the training school building. The delay is being felt keenly in the assignment of pupils for the September opening.

"We recommend, therefore, that all remaining unawarded projects in this bond issue be taken over by the board of education and built on a time and material basis under the direction of the business office.

"That in order to carry on the work which this would comprehend a competent general superintendent be employed on a salary and bonus basis with sufficient project superintendents to insure proper supervision of the work.

"That the architect be allowed to withdraw all of his superintendents except a general superintendent, who would continue to act in an advisory and consulting capacity, said withdrawals not to reduce the amount of the compensation to the architect.

"That the general construction superintendent work under the direction of the assistant superintendent in charge of all affairs to build up a satisfactory organization of clerks and estimators so that quantity purchasing can be utilized to effect maximum savings and at the same time permit all projects to go forward immediately upon the approval by the board of this type of organization.

"That we use union labor for all crafts where the business agent of the various locals is able to supply satisfactory help.

"That contracts be permitted on a purchase order basis awarding same to the lowest and best bidder.

"Advantages of the proposals are that all projects remaining to be completed immediately upon the approval of these recommendations where possible and probable dates of letting of contracts for the balance of the projects would still be 30 to 90 days in the future.

"That many costs which must be included where contracts are awarded could be eliminated if the city took over the work.

"Possible savings under this plan would undoubtedly permit the completion of some projects which would be impossible in any other way.

Less Interruption.

"Since the projects remaining are practically all additions to existing buildings it would be possible to plan the work of building the new additions with less interruption to the school program than the present operation by the contractor with the school department would arise. (This is not the case on certain projects now under way.)

"Carrying a number of projects forward at the same time has many advantages of purchasing, overhauling the various contracts to provide steady employment for the various trades involved.

"In short, the advantages seem to lie with this complete change of procedure and it has been brought to a head by the apparent lack of interest among the contractors' group.

"We hand this communication to you at this time knowing that due deliberation should be given and also to acquaint you with the seriousness of the problem which faces the school department. Any other questions or points of advantage or disadvantage will receive immediate attention."

and testified that Mrs. Willebrandt appeared personally before the grand jury, examined witnesses and discussed the general law with the jury but took no part in its deliberations.

He predicted the commissions of both himself and Mrs. Willebrandt and after examining the record, told the court they challenged their power as they were not signed by the attorney general and were meant only for the Howard case.

McGilchrist countered with the statement that they were signed by the solicitor general of the United States and covered the Howard case and violations of the conspiracy act.

A plea also was made that Mrs. Willebrandt unduly influenced the jury and that the indictments were the result of her prestige and clamor.

"They had no authority in this case," declared Judge Sykes, attorney for Patton.

"The case of Perry Howard and others is different from the case of Edward L. Patton and others. This is shown by the fact that they were indicted separately and that the Howard case comes up in the federal court at Jackson in November.

McGilchrist, who is aiding Cassidy Holden, assistant district attorney, in the prosecution, argued that the law and their appointments gave them ample authority to conduct the case before the grand jury.

Judge Holmes showed sharp interest in the proceedings and frequently interrupted with questions.

SMITH MAY CARRY NEW ENGLAND VOTES

states on better than an even footing with Herbert Hoover, a circumstance that no other democrat, except Woodrow Wilson in the memorable republican split of 1912, had enjoyed in recent years.

To gain that success the democracy is resting its cause upon personalities and one dominant issue—prohibition. In Massachusetts the Smith name is linked with that of Senator David L. Walsh, up for reelection, who has been a fairly consistent winner far in advance of his ticket.

Both are Catholics and their prohibition views coincide.

Catholic Vote.

The Catholic vote is large in the Bay State, which often has been a battleground for wets and dries. Until the advent of national prohibition the state was under local option, and in a referendum in the general election of 1924 a rigid enforcement bill was adopted by a margin of only 8,183 in a total of 901,129 votes. A similar measure was defeated in 1922 by 103,976 votes.

Connecticut and Rhode Island long have been deemed fair ground for anti-prohibition fights; they stand as the only states that refused to ratify the eighteenth amendment. Prohibition is the main spring of the democratic effort in Connecticut, where an aggressive campaign is under way with material assistance from the speakers' bureau of national headquarters.

Senator Peter G. Gerry, who twice has defeated republican opponents in Rhode Island, the last time in 1922 between the Harding and Coolidge landslide, is standing for reelection, teamed with Smith.

He is relied upon by the democrats to put the tiny state in the Smith column in November, reliance that takes into account not only his popularity and winning habit but also that Rhode Island, like Connecticut, has a large foreign population declared to be mainly wet and Catholic.

Republicans are admittedly concerned about this new situation but are ready actively to take the field once the state party activities are out of the way. There is a combined defensive-offensive maneuver; while combating the democratic wet advance they will swing an old fashioned Republicanism—the protective tariff.

That is to be the theme of the republican campaign in this manufacturing zone. It is now loudly and earnestly proclaimed in Maine, where every effort is being expended to roll up for the state ticket next Monday a majority so big that it may be offered to the country as a psychological blow in November. The first tariff blow was struck in this region by Senator Curtis, who won only until he had been notified that he was the vice presidential nominee to invade anti-prohibition Rhode Island and declare that tariff protection was the big issue, and that the democrats were unbelievers.

Maine, Vermont and New Hampshire are depended upon by the republicans to stay republican.

Hoover Clubs Score as Aids To Dan Cupid

Washington, September 5.—(AP)—Ohio Hoover clubs as thriving matrimonial agencies and Pacific slope predictions of Governor Lowden's support for Hoover were among the developments reported today to Mr. Alvin T. Hart, republican national vice chairman, by national committee-men from several states.

The latest news from the Buckeye state, brought to republican headquarters by Mrs. Elizabeth L. Clarke, national committeewoman for Ohio, told of how lawn fests, swimming parties, dinners and dances organized to get the young folks together in the interests of the Hoover candidacy have proved not only a social and political success but a prolific source of matrimonial adventures.

Reports seem to indicate that the first-time voters attending Hoover meetings are as much interested in each other as in the candidate, she said.

put into use at the earliest possible moment. There is a time as well as a financial economy interest in our effort.

Exclusive of the Commercial High school project, bids should not, we feel, exceed 24 cents a cubic foot, but they run far over that in many instances.

"The General Contractors' association has through its secretary, Hugh Roberts, repeatedly assured us that in submitting the bids, they will be with proper extension of time in which to make estimates, at least eight of their members were interested in making quotations for the work. In the opening of the other day (August 28) none of the eight mentioned by Mr. Roberts submitted proposals.

"From the standpoint of projects awarded to Palmer-Spivey and Joe Hunt, and one or two others of the projects already contracted for, the cost per cubic foot on the five projects for which bids were opened on August 28 is all in excess of a reasonable figure running as high as 34 cents per cubic foot in case of the six-classroom units at Georgia Avenue and 32 4-10, but a considerable number in the annex to Commercial High school.

Additional Involvement.

"The five jobs under consideration and all of the projects which remain to be considered in this bond issue, with but minor exceptions are additions to old buildings. For this reason it may be true that the contractors in submitting their bids have introduced contingencies to protect themselves against unforeseen difficulties.

"All of the above enumerated circumstances unite to introduce a serious factor of delay in awarding said contracts and undoubtedly will militate against the letting of other contracts for the training school building. The delay is being felt keenly in the assignment of pupils for the September opening.

"We recommend, therefore, that all remaining unawarded projects in this bond issue be taken over by the board of education and built on a time and material basis under the direction of the business office.

"That in order to carry on the work which this would comprehend a competent general superintendent be employed on a salary and bonus basis with sufficient project superintendents to insure proper supervision of the work.

"That the architect be allowed to withdraw all of his superintendents except a general superintendent, who would continue to act in an advisory and consulting capacity, said withdrawals not to reduce the amount of the compensation to the architect.

"That the general construction superintendent work under the direction of the assistant superintendent in charge of all affairs to build up a satisfactory organization of clerks and estimators so that quantity purchasing can be utilized to effect maximum savings and at the same time permit all projects to go forward immediately upon the approval by the board of this type of organization.

"That we use union labor for all crafts where the business agent of the various locals is able to supply satisfactory help.

"That contracts be permitted on a purchase order basis awarding same to the lowest and best bidder.

"Advantages of the proposals are that all projects remaining to be completed immediately upon the approval of these recommendations where possible and probable dates of letting of contracts for the balance of the projects would still be 30 to 90 days in the future.

"That many costs which must be included where contracts are awarded could be eliminated if the city took over the work.

"Possible savings under this plan would undoubtedly permit the completion of some projects which would be impossible in any other way.

Less Interruption.

"Since the projects remaining are practically all additions to existing buildings it would be possible to plan the work of building the new additions with less interruption to the school program than the present operation by the contractor with the school department would arise. (This is not the case on certain projects now under way.)

"Carrying a number of projects forward at the same time has many advantages of purchasing, overhauling the various contracts to provide steady employment for the various trades involved.

"In short, the advantages seem to lie with this complete change of procedure and it has been brought to a head by the apparent lack of interest among the contractors' group.

"We hand this communication to you at this time knowing that due deliberation should be given and also to acquaint you with the seriousness of the problem which faces the school department. Any other questions or points of advantage or disadvantage will receive immediate attention."

Seventeen-Year Girl Sets Altitude Record

BY LORENA A. HICKOCK, Associated Press Staff Writer.

Curtiss Field, N. Y., September 5.—(AP)—Seventeen-year-old Eleanor Smith was officially informed today that she had made a woman's altitude world record flight of 11,063 feet on August 21 and thereupon confessed that her next great ambition was to fly the ocean; really fly it, not just go for a ride.

But she admitted that at the moment there were two seemingly insurmountable obstacles, to-wit:

1. "Pop won't let me."
2. "I'm too light, my legs are too short and my arms aren't strong enough."

In the intervals of talking about a possible ocean flight the girl told something of her experience that sunny day when she climbed into her little green biplane with the silver wings, gave it the gun and headed into the sky.

Up and up she rose. It grew colder and colder. After 20 minutes her hands were so stiff she no longer could pull down her fur-lined glove to look at her wrist watch.

Altitude Broke.

She passed 5,000 feet and continued upward. Before she reached 6,000, her altimeter broke. Shaking her head because she was beginning to feel a little dizzy, she continued to climb—her eyes on the little red needle in her gas indicator.

In the thin air the ship began to wobble. It tried to go into side-slips. Her ring hand had no feeling in it at all. And then suddenly the gas indicator pointed to "empty."

With two gallons of gas in her reserve tanks, Eleanor Smith turned around—our down—and started home playfully "shooting up" a couple of little, feathery clouds en route.

The last drop of gas was gone when she taxied across Curtiss field a few moments later, holder of a world record.

RIVERS ADDRESSES
WINDER AUDIENCES

Winder, Ga., September 5.—(Special.)—State Senator E. D. Rivers spoke here today in the interest of his candidacy for governor and characterized Governor Hardman's business administration as "a failure."

Senator Rivers said that "as an example of Dr. Hardman's business ability, he took away from the state a sum of $75,000 and lost $70,000 of the state's money in the failure of the Georgia National bank at Athens."

Senator Rivers also accused Governor Hardman of withholding from the people the highway audit delivered to him on the 19th of April and stated that Dr. Hardman's friends were "freely whispering during the beginning of the year, that the doctor would have no opposition because he had traded with the chairman of the highway board to reappoint him."

Senator Rivers said in part:

"Governor Hardman, when are you going to tell the people of Georgia about this highway audit which you kept on your desk for over four months? The people are getting more suspicious each day of your slick trading ability. This recent uncovering of your continued efforts to trade with the highway board, while at the same time trying to make the people of the state believe you were unfriendly towards them, shows more clearly than anything, that you are not the type of man to be governor of the state. The people, doctor, can not overlook your deception and insincerity."

1 KILLED, 3 INJURED GIRLS' HIGH SCHOOL
IN BUS-AUTO CRASH TO OPEN SEPT. 10

Waycross, Ga., September 5.—(Special.)—Benny Edgar Toole, 16-year-old boy of Arzyle, Ga., was killed almost instantly and Perry Colson, young man of Cobbtown, Ga., is in a local hospital suffering injuries as a result of a collision between a bus and a touring car on the outskirts of Waycross today. Carl Cribb and Leon Duffield, occupants of the touring car also were slightly injured.

Young Toole, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. Toole, of Arzyle, was riding on the outside of the bus and is reported to have been lying on the front fender adjusting the carburetor while the car was in motion. The driver of the bus is said to have lost control of the car on a curve just out of Waycross, the bus swinging leftwise across the road. This placed Toole in the direct path of an oncoming car driven by Perry Colson. Occupants of the car state that the crash could not have been avoided.

Toole's body was mangled and his head was crushed. He lived but a few minutes, after regaining consciousness. He died before he could be carried to the hospital. Colson was rushed to a local hospital and is reported to be painfully but not fatally injured.

EX-GOVERNOR BROWN
SUPPORTING HARDMAN

Former Governor Joseph M. Brown is supporting Governor L. G. Hardman in his race for reelection, according to a statement made public Wednesday by Hardman campaign headquarters.

In a letter to the governor, Governor Brown outlines his reasons for this support. The former governor commends Governor Hardman for not meeting his opponent, State Senator E. D. Rivers, in joint debate.

Discussing this phase of the situation, Governor Brown said:

"I unqualifiedly commend Governor Hardman for not leaving his duties in the state capitol and going out there to have 'joint debates' with Senator Rivers or any other person. I never did a 'I've act myself while I was governor, for I for one, believe then as now that the governor should stay at his office in the capitol and attend to the state's business instead of having 'joint debates' at any and every place wherever his opponent dares him to come."

"In the meantime, Senator Rivers correctly declares himself a young man, hence there is time yet wherein he can run for governor, and maybe, I can vote for him for governor. But in the race now pending I would vote for no one against Governor Hardman."

1,000 Attend Dedication
Of New South Fulton High

Braving one of the most persistent rains of the season, more than 1,000 visitors assembled in the auditorium of the South Fulton high school Wednesday afternoon as guests of the East Point Chamber of Commerce on the occasion of exercises dedicating the new school, one of the most important additions to the Fulton county system of recent years.

With the exception of the cornerstone laying, conducted by Dr. W. Frank Wells for the East Point lodge, F. and A. M., the exercises were forced indoors by inclement weather.

The auditorium at the new school, which will be thrown open September 10 to approximately 900 pupils drawn from the southern section of the county, was filled to capacity throughout the afternoon.

Old School Consolidated.

South Fulton high school comprises the old William A. Russell school, formerly maintained by the city of East Point, together with a $100,000 annex just completed by the county school system, which has taken over operation of the new school.

The completed building represents one of the most modern and completely equipped units of the entire system, and it is believed to be adequate to meet the requirements of East Point, College Park, Hapeville and surrounding districts.

Professor Charles M. Reed, former superintendent in Monroe and Thomson, and now principal at the school, addressed the gathering Wednesday afternoon, as did Dr. M. L. Duggan, state superintendent of schools.

Other speakers on the program included the Rev. G. F. Venable, who delivered the invocation; Ed L. Hum-

MAN INSTANTLY
KILLED BY TRUCK

A. C. Roane, 68, of 79 Harris street, was almost instantly killed shortly after 8 o'clock Wednesday morning when he was struck down by a truck driven by D. G. de Jarrette, of 70 Spruce street, according to police reports. The accident took place on Harris street, near Williams.

According to de Jarrette, Roane was struck when he stepped from behind a parked automobile directly into the path of the truck. Roane was dragged for several feet under the wheels of the truck before the driver could bring the machine to a stop. Several witnesses are said to have stated that the accident was unavoidable.

The dead man was identified by police by means of papers found in his pockets. At the boarding house where Roane lived no information concerning his relatives could be obtained. It was said that he was employed as a collector.

Some letters found in Roane's room addressed to a Memphis man led officers to believe that possibly he might have relatives in that city, and Chief of Police James L. Beavers communicated with the chief of police at the Tennessee city in an attempt to locate them.

The driver of the truck, detained after the mishap by Call Officers Melton and Goode, was released under $1,000 bonds on reckless driving charges. Bonds for de Jarrette were signed by his uncle, J. T. de Jarrette, an official of the de Jarrette Supply company.

Confidence

THE Southern's confidence in the South's future is evidenced in its policy of building up its transportation facilities ahead of present needs.

A sustained program of ploughing back earnings year after year, the investment of many millions of dollars of new capital, the loyalty of its 60,000 employees, have built up one of the most efficient transportation systems in the world—with a capacity in excess of the traffic now furnished by the territory it serves.

This assurance of ample transportation facilities ties is of itself bringing new industries and capital to develop the resources of the South the Southern serves.

And the Southern today is planning to keep its transportation machine ahead of the requirements of the South of tomorrow, that the products of Southern farms and factories may continue to move promptly over its rails through its Northern and Western Gateways and Gulf and Ocean Ports to take their place in the markets of the world.

Since 1920 the Southern has spent (largely in the South) $160,000,000 for new equipment and other improvements.

OVER WATER CONTINUES

Milledgeville, Ga., September 5.—(Special.)—Dr. E. H. Winchester, superintendent of county health work for the various counties with the Georgia state board of health, indicted the efforts of Dr. Sam A. Anderson, a county health commissioner, in his warnings to citizens to guard against polluted water here in a report submitted to a meeting of Milledgeville city council Wednesday night.

Dr. Winchester, superintendent of health, Commissioner Anderson for his work in Baldwin county and stated that the Milledgeville water plant is totally inadequate to give Milledgeville a proper grade and supply of drinking water. Dr. Winchester, together with Mayor Pennington, Engineer Weir, of the state board of health, and Dr. Lott W. Lee, chairman of the water committee, inspected the plant Wednesday afternoon and the reports to council followed.

Dr. J. L. Beeson, president of Georgia State College for Women, appeared before council and virtually demanded that a new chlorinator be provided immediately at the water plant and that better water provisions be made before his school opens two weeks hence.

Alderman Andrews, of city council, led the attack on Commissioner Anderson but no indorsement of his charges was made by the council. Mayor Pennington demanded the resignation of Commissioner Anderson, which provoked heated discussion by citizens commending Dr. Anderson, whereupon he refused to consider resigning. Health department officials stated that recommendations were made several months ago to city council to replace present inadequate plant but no action has been taken. The meeting ended in general squabble and no definite action was taken.

COASTAL MOTORCADE WILL OPEN HIGHWAY

Savannah, Ga., September 5.—(AP) Plans for a motorcade over the Coastal highway from Key West, Fla., to Washington, D. C., officially opening the new line, will be discussed at a meeting of the 61 members of the executive board of the Atlantic Coastal Highway association, to be held in Savannah on September 12. The meeting has been called by Frank O. Miller, president.

Representatives of Florida, Georgia, South Carolina, North Carolina and Virginia, the states through which the Atlantic Coastal highway runs, will attend the meeting here. Tentative plans call for Governor Martin, of Florida, to head the motorcade from Key West. Delegates from cities will join the caravan en route, it is planned. The proposed motorcade was suggested by Mayor Alsop, of Jacksonville.

EARLY REGISTRATION
IN SCHOOLS URGED

A second appeal to the parents of Atlanta to register their children for entrance in public schools in order to avoid last-minute congestion, was sounded Wednesday by Superintendent of Schools Willis A. Sutton. Children who have moved from the locality in which they attended school last spring are required to register in the new school.

Registration is open at the administration offices, Walker Street school, from 8:15 o'clock in the morning until 5:30 in the afternoon and until noon on Saturday. Many already have registered, but the great majority have failed to request accommodations for themselves.

Immediate registration is necessary, it is pointed out, if the student is to obtain a seat in the school nearest him, since many will probably be forced to attend schools other than that in their community. This situation is brought about by the record number of removals this summer.

STRIKERS' SPEAKER AND FULLER CLASH

Boston, September 5.—(United News.)—A fiery exchange of words between Dr. James Reid, leader of a delegation of New Bedford and Fall River textile strikers, and Governor Alvan T. Fuller today threatened to bring a conference between the governor and the strikers to a premature conclusion.

Sitting across the desk from Governor Fuller in the executive office, Reid told the governor he was "worse than Chief of Police Feeney, of Fall River," and then mumbled some words about the chief executive's Americanism.

The governor's face became flushed. He turned sharply on the strikers' leader and said:

"I'll get peevish in a minute or two and we'll have a pretty short conference. I resent this talk about my Americanism and I'll have you put out of my office."

The delegation told the governor that instead of a 10 per cent wage cut—the reason for the textile strike—they wanted a 20 per cent increase and a five-day, 40-hour week.

The governor seemed surprised. He said he thought the strikers were going to make some sort of concession. Once again Reid interrupted.

"We came here to talk and not to listen to a lecture," Reid said.

"You'll listen until I get through," the governor retorted.

"We were invited here to talk to you," came from Reid.

"When I am through," the governor answered quietly, "you can talk but in this office wait until I am through."

When Reid attempted to remonstrate further, the governor snapped:

"You've been invited here for a conference. If you don't care to listen, you can get out; but while I am talking you can keep still. This is customary here."

Briand of France and Mueller Of Germany Discuss Relations

Geneva, September 5.—(AP)—Foreign Minister Briand, of France, and Chancellor Hermann Mueller, of Germany, tonight held an informal conversation which promoted understanding of their relations while leaving untouched the question of evacuation of the Rhineland.

Briand informed his caller that France could not embark on a discussion of this question without the presence of her allies, Great Britain and Belgium. Later he told the press that the conversation at night took the character of a negotiation. He said that the chancellor gave the impression of wishing to draw closer relations between the two countries.

They spoke of the moral and material value of agreements already arrived at, such as the Locarno pact, and discussed what could be done to dissipate misunderstandings and prevent such from compromising good relations between their nations. It was indicated that the French statesman may prolong the discussion by returning the visit while both are at Geneva.

There are now 60,000 allied troops in the German Rhineland to guarantee German fulfillment of the terms of the treaty of Versailles. Germany has sought to have these wholly withdrawn before 1935, which was the date fixed for the removal of the last contingent.

Delegates to the league assembly displayed much interest in the visit. It was felt that the problem might be linked to that of evacuation. Such an eventuality would bring American interests into the discussion. Germany's first big reparations annuity is due this year and many Germans think it the psychological moment to raise the question whether evacuation should not be made simultaneously with a fixation on the total reparations at a figure which Germans would consider reasonable.

Many Germans, also, would like to see the birth of a treaty guaranteeing the eastern border of Germany as the Locarno pact guarantees peace on the Rhine. To this the French reply is that no great power is available to stand as sponsor. Great Britain having shown disinclination to accept political responsibilities in Europe beyond those contained in the Locarno pact while France would be the natural arbiter between Poland and Germany in event of difficulties between them.

It was said in German circles late tonight that today's proceedings were only preparatory to general conversations on the subject of evacuation with equal powers meeting at Briand's having an equal interest.

Briand is understood to have included Italy among those who must be consulted since, while Great Britain troops on the Rhine, she is with Great Britain on the guarantors of the Rhine pact negotiated at Locarno.

BERLIN RESENTFUL. Berlin, September 5.—(AP)—Emphatic resentment was shown in German official quarters today over reports from Geneva that France was conferring with Germany on the question of throwing into one problem evacuation of the Rhineland, reparations and the inter-allied debts. The idea was strongly rejected that Germany's moral position would be available for the organization of an "anti-American front" on issues involving post-war finances.

It was officially said at the foreign office that "evacuation of the Rhineland and reparations are distinctly European problems and are not problems of individual issues." An official spokesman declared that Germany has a moral right to demand complete evacuation of all Rhineland zones now Germany has given repeated assurances that it was pursuing a policy of peace and reconciliation. Our judicial right to complete evacuation is founded on Article 431 of the Versailles, while politically we believe we are entitled to this relief by the letter and spirit of the Locarno pact and the more recent pact outlawing war.

It was indicated that Germany has no intention of allowing her weight to be used by any other European country in effecting a settlement of war debt obligations to the United States.

WORLD ALWAYS FIGHTING, GIRL, 20, TAKES OWN LIFE

North Branch, N. J., September 5.—(United News.)—Enola M. Stillman, 20-year-old school-teacher of North Branch, whose body was found on a railroad track near here today, killed herself because "the world is so big—and yet people cannot get along in it without fighting."

In a note she had written a few hours before firing a bullet into her head, the young school-teacher said: "Some people will say catty things because of what I am doing, but at least I am consistent."

Friends of the girl expressed the belief tonight that she had been depressed because of the death of a friend recently. The friend, Hulda Schulz, 22, drank poison in Fischer place park, Trenton, August 29. They had been close friends and it was said Miss Stillman had been deeply affected by her friend's death.

Charles Stillman, the girl's brother, said his sister once had intimated to him that "Hulda did the right thing."

MRS. KNAPP MUST SERVE FIVE DAYS OF HER SENTENCE

Albany, N. Y., September 5.—(AP)—Regardless of legal maneuvers of her attorneys Mrs. Florence E. S. Knapp, former secretary of state for New York, must serve five days of her 30-day jail sentence imposed for grand larceny.

John J. Conway, of defense counsel, pointed out today that although every effort was being made to obtain a certificate of reasonable doubt on which an appeal could be based, nothing could be accomplished before Saturday.

When a prisoner is confined in a county jail, a stay of execution cannot be granted, and a certificate of reasonable doubt can be granted only at a special term of supreme court. There is no special term in Albany county until Saturday, when Justice Ellis J. Staley will preside.

Should Justice Staley reserve decision on the application it is possible that Mrs. Knapp will serve more than a week at least.

DRIVER TIED UP AND CAB SMASHED IN STRIKE TROUBLE

Kenosha, Wis., September 5.—(AP)—Violence in connection with the Allen A. company strike broke out anew today when Ellsworth Barbeau, 26, a taxicab driver, was held up and tied to a tree while his car was smashed.

Police arrested Gustave Tillman and Earl Steele.

Barbeau is employed by the cab company which is engaged by the Allen A. company to transport employees to and from its plant.

Two young women strikers, arrested on disorderly conduct charges, had started the ninth day of a hunger strike in the Kenosha jail today. They were buoyed by a large "fan" mail, jailers said, both Mertie Hudson and Amanda Rittner receiving scores of letters and postcards daily from sympathizers.

ALABAMA GOES ON TRIAL IN MOB KILLING OF NEGRESS

Oneonta, Ala., September 5.—(AP)—A crowd that packed the courtroom here to capacity attended the formal opening of the trial of Edgar Moore, in connection with the murder two years ago of Lily Cobb, negro woman, during one of a series of flogging attacks. The woman was killed, the state charges by one of a band of hooded men that came to the Cobb residence in search of the woman's husband.

Trial of the case was delayed by the absence of Dr. Joseph Moore, of Birmingham, for whom an instant attachment was issued by the court at the request of the prosecution. Court was adjourned pending the arrival of Dr. Moore.

Judge Woolson Martin refused to quash the indictment against Moore at the opening of the session.

PREMIER VENIZELOS' CONDITION GOOD

Athens, September 5.—(AP)—A bulletin issued today said the general condition of Premier Venizelos, who is suffering from the dengue plague, was good. His temperature was 101.5 and his pulse 98.

Reports that the premier's family had been summoned and that a specialist had been called from Paris were declared incorrect.

EULA TO RECEIVE SENTENCE FRIDAY

Eula Thompson, 24, recently widowed by the electric chair, and herself under conviction in the murder of Coleman Osborne, Murray county storekeeper, left Fulton Tower Wednesday afternoon for Chatsworth, where she will be sentenced Friday by Judge C. C. Pittman, of the Cherokee circuit.

In custody of Sheriff B. M. Wilbanks, of Murray county, and one of his deputies, Mrs. Thompson entered at 3:35 o'clock for Murray county.

Bareheaded, and carefully dressed in her best pink skirt and a light white coat, Mrs. Thompson smiled good-bye to friends at the tower, expressing doubt that she would ever see them again.

Plans as to the disposal of their prisoner after sentence were not disclosed by the Murray county officers. That Governor L. G. Hardman has taken her case under advisement was indicated Wednesday when it became known that Mrs. Thompson was taken Monday to police headquarters, where she was photographed and her Bertillon measurements recorded.

Although police officials were reluctant to discuss the affair, it was understood that the photographs and measurements have been transmitted to the state penitentiary.

Mrs. Thompson's husband, Clifford Thompson, and a negro, Jim Hugh Moss, were executed August 3 for the murder of a woman.

Thompson's appeal from her death sentence was denied several weeks ago by the Georgia supreme court.

Although police officials were reluctant to discuss the affair, it was understood that the photographs and measurements have been transmitted to the state penitentiary.

It was indicated that Germany has no intention of allowing her weight to be used by any other European country in effecting a settlement of war debt obligations to the United States.

COURTHOUSE ROSTRUM IS PELTED WITH EGGS

Florence, Ala., September 5.—(AP)—The rostrum in the auditorium of the Lauderdale county courthouse, from which the Rev. George E. Wilburn, Little Rock, Ark., evangelist, was delivering an anti-Smith speech, was pelted with eggs today.

Although the minister said, "the eggs came from every direction," no hits were scored although the rostrum was badly splattered. Under the attack, Wilburn never moved from his position as the bombardment opened and upon its completion, finished his speech with a prayer for peace.

Although the minister said, "the eggs came from every direction," no hits were scored although the rostrum was badly splattered. Under the attack, Wilburn never moved from his position as the bombardment opened and upon its completion, finished his speech with a prayer for peace.

Miss Jen Weakley, of Florence, Smith supporter, rose from her seat in the audience and interrupted the Rev. Wilburn to take him to task for his criticism of Governor Smith's address.

Shortly after Miss Weakley's departure the egg throwing began. Several were thrown from a doorway but none found their mark. After the minister had resumed his speech, he was again made the object of an attack, this time from separate openings in the auditorium.

The interruptions in his speech last night was the second experienced by Mr. Wilburn since his appearance with the anti-Smith forces here several weeks ago. He recently attempted to speak at a meeting on the same program with H. L. Anderson, of Birmingham, when he raised the religious issue. Mr. Anderson stopped him and announced to the audience that inasmuch as Wilburn was not on the regular program, he would not be allowed to continue his speech.

Florida Democrats Form 100 Per Cent Club at Miami

Miami, Fla., September 5.—(AP)—Formation of the 100 per cent democratic club was effected at a meeting of representative Dade county democrats last night as the first step in a movement by partisans here to solidify their front in behalf of the national ticket.

The meeting, called by Henry O. Shaw, chairman of the county democratic committee, was marked only by the refusal of the Rev. Homer Sala, a Florida delegate, to the Houston convention, to sign a membership card in the "100 per cent club."

CURTIS FAVORS TARIFF INCREASE

Boston, September 5.—(AP)—Massachusetts republican fires were fanned today by Senator Curtis, the party's vice presidential nominee, at a round of meetings and conferences.

Before a republican rally at Norumbega park the nominee again advocated a higher protective tariff and called for the election of the republican ticket to put it into effect. He said the democrats were prepared to remodel the tariff downward along the lines of the Underwood bill of 1913.

To a crowd gathered on Boston Common he declared his pride in the record of the party's administration during the last seven years, and asked for its retention in power on that record.

Income Taxes Cut. He stated that during that period income taxes have been cut four times, the national debt has been sliced by about $7,000,000,000, and appropriations have been reduced from $7,000,000,000 to $4,000,000,000.

The name of President Coolidge was mentioned by every speaker of the day and always provoked applause. The senator emphasized that the policies of Herbert Hoover and of himself were the "policies of Calvin Coolidge."

Touching on the ailing textile industry situation, the senator told the crowd which filled the theater at Norumbega park that he would "put the duty on cotton high enough to protect American producers and give the producers the American market."

He said that butler importations had decreased from 90,000,000 pounds annually under the democratic tariff to 3,000,000 pounds.

Shoots at Smith. The Kansas also took some shots at Governor Smith, the democratic presidential nominee, declaring he had proposed to put the prohibition service under civil service and "apparently forgets that a republican administration already has done that."

"If he is correctly quoted," Curtis continued in referring to Governor Smith, "he would wipe out one of the great bureaus which spends $500,000,000 annually for the veterans—the veterans bureau. He says he will give us a wonderful building program. If properly informed he would know that this administration has given on the nation the greatest public building program in history."

At the exercises on the Common the senator referred to Herbert Hoover, republican presidential nominee, as one "who stands today without equal in the services he has rendered to the people of the world and one who has shown his interest in the family, the home and the nation."

UNMASKED DUO HOLD UP BANK, FLEE WITH $6,000

Missouri Valley, Iowa, September 5.—(United News.)—Two unmasked bandits held up the State Savings bank here late today and escaped with $6,000 in cash.

The robbers drove northward in the direction of Sioux City.

Police in Sioux City and surrounding towns were notified to be on the lookout for the bandits.

New Versus Old. The audience heard Sir William in silence as he began turning the tables on the retiring president who had invited him and who remained on the platform. The applause increased, however, as he warmed to his subject.

"There are some who think," he said, "that science is inhuman. They speak as though students of modern science would destroy reverence and faith. I do not know how that can be said of the student who stands daily in the presence of what seems to him to be the infinite."

"Science is not so foolish as to throw away that in which the slowly gathered wisdom of the ages is stored. In this she is a conservative of conservatism."

His Sister Buried Sunday, Brother Suicides at Grave

Selma, Ala., September 5.—(AP)—Despondency today was attributed by officers as the cause for Edward B. Apperson, 56, firing a pistol bullet into his brain here late yesterday as he knelt beside the grave of his sister, Mrs. Sam O'Gwynn, who was buried Sunday. A suicide verdict was returned by investigators.

Mr. Apperson was superintendent of the Sunday school and an elder of the First Christian church here.

Nancy's Ex-Rajah Husband Is in Trouble Once More

Bombay, India, September 5.—(AP)—The former Maharajah of Indore, husband of Nancy Miller, of Seattle, with the loss of his throne, because of an affair with an Indian dancing girl behind him, figured today in a sensational high court appeal case over another Indian woman.

The woman this time is Sowkabi Pandarum, Rajputkar, who is claiming damages of $4,000 rupees (about $28,000) from the former Maharajah, alleging wrongful imprisonment, personal injury, misappropriation of her property and systematic cruelty by him both at Indore and Bombay.

She alleges that she and her daughter were deceived from Bombay through his agents with immoral design, both being ultimately confined at Indore for ten years, during which time her Bombay house was taken possession of by his agents and jewelry and furniture misappropriated.

The woman states that in 1915, she and her daughter were persuaded to go to Indore by an official under the Maharajah.

British Scientist Believes in Soul, He Firmly Avers

Glasgow, Scotland, September 5.—(AP)—Sir William Brazz, making his first address as president of the British Association for Advancement of Science tonight, fairly told his distinguished audience that man has a soul.

His incisive declaration was in direct contradiction of the address made to the body last year by its then president, Sir Arthur Keith, who rejected the idea of an after life.

Standing before 3,000 scientists assembled in St. Andrews' hall, Sir William shook his finger at his hearers and tossed the iron-gray hair fringing his bald head as he declared "science is not setting forth to destroy the soul, but to keep body and soul together."

The Noble prize winner and discoverer of a new method of measuring electrons and atoms in crystals, took as his premise that science and religion are not incompatible.

Applause Grows. "There are some who think," he said, "that science is inhuman. They speak as though students of modern science would destroy reverence and faith. I do not know how that can be said of the student who stands daily in the presence of what seems to him to be the infinite."

"Science is not so foolish as to throw away that in which the slowly gathered wisdom of the ages is stored. In this she is a conservative of conservatism."

ROCKFORD FLIERS ON JOURNEY HOME

Julianhaab, Greenland, September 5.—(United News.)—(Via Radio)—Bert Hassell and Parker Cramer, the Rockford, Ill., fliers who were rescued after plane was forced down on the Sukkertoppen icecap, left Mount Evans late Tuesday for Holstenborg.

Although radio reports did not definitely state what route the fliers would follow in return to the United States, it was indicated they would proceed from Holstenborg to Denmark and thence to New York.

The motorboat bearing the aviators left Camp Lloyd near Mount Evans, with Professor Hobbs, of the University of Michigan expedition accompanying them. Professor Hobbs was ready to return home when Hassell and Cramer were rescued after two weeks on the ice.

It was understood the party would take a steamer for Denmark.

Hassell and Cramer were lost when they ran into a storm while attempting a three-stop flight from Rockford, Ill., to Stockholm. They were blown off their route and forced down by lack of fuel. Their plane was not damaged.

HEAVY paint is LONG-LIVED

PURE lead and oil paint, weighing 19 to 20 pounds to the gallon, gives the best service because it contains sufficient pigment to protect its oil from the destructive action of sunlight.

Carter Soft Paste White Lead, thinned measure for measure with linseed oil, makes a long-lived finishing-coat paint. If too heavy to spread freely, reduce with a little turpentine. For a hard, tight-sticking undercoat, thin to brushing consistency with a fifty-fifty mixture of oil and turpentine. Painters who follow this method never lose their customers.

Easier to thin, tint and spread

Painters who have been accustomed to thinning 100 pounds of Carter Heavy Paste White Lead with 4 gallons of oil for finishing coats (half oil and half turps for undercoats) will get paint of same weight and consistency by thinning Carter Soft Paste with linseed oil measure for measure. The greater convenience of soft-paste costs the painter nothing.

10 REASONS GIVEN TO ELECT HARDMAN

An official platform of "ten reasons why Governor Hardman should be re-elected" has been adopted by the DeKalb County Hardman club, it was announced Wednesday. The list of reasons was compiled Wednesday by a committee appointed at the organization meeting Tuesday night at the Hotel Candler in Decatur. The club is sponsoring a Hardman motorcade, which will meet at the DeKalb courthouse at 8 o'clock Friday morning to pledge for the trip.

The official platform of the club follows: "Ten reasons why Governor Hardman should be re-elected:

1. Because Governor Hardman is a man of unquestioned integrity and of proven executive ability, both in private and in public affairs.
2. Because Governor Hardman has contributed so abundantly to the promotion of public health and the educational development and welfare of Georgia.
3. Because Governor Hardman by his wonderful versatility and superior knowledge of the natural resources of Georgia, together with his business acumen, make him pre-eminently fitted as chief executive, to lead in the conservation and development of the state's potential wealth.
4. Because Governor Hardman is a man of no proven executive ability, and therefore, to entrust to him the management of so great an enterprise as the great state of Georgia, would be a hazard that the people cannot afford to take.
5. Because the "Senate bloc" led by "Senator" Rivers definitely "led" by "Senator" Rivers, and prevented much constructive legislation as proposed by Governor Hardman.
6. Because "Senator" Rivers, the required advance his own selfish ambitions and the schemes of his political bosses.
7. Because "Senator" Rivers by his alignment with mercenary corporations and political machines, as evidenced by his legislative record, has clearly fettered his future independence.
8. Because "Senator" Rivers, by his efforts to leave the U. S. railroad now for a period beginning 45 years hence, leaves the thinking voters of Georgia in no doubt as to the sinister ulterior motives that directed his activities heretofore.
9. Because "Senator" Rivers by blatantly and brazenly linking himself with the world's great forces of evil, display ecumenical intolerance, but no desire for the high office of governor and shaking to the modern of the citizen.
10. Because Governor Hardman is financially sound, his own campaign, while "Senator" Rivers, confining his own financial inability, still does not divulge the sources of the enormous expenditures from his headquarters.

Shot by Officer, Negro in Critical Condition at Grady

Shot by Patrolman F. O. Bishop as he attempted to enter a vacant building at 57 West Alabama street early Wednesday morning, Taylor Powell, negro, of Montgomery, Ala., was in a critical condition at Grady hospital Wednesday night, according to attaches.

Patrolman Bishop stated he was standing in the entrance to the building when the negro attempted to force his way in. When questioned by the officer, the negro said he had a knife, and started to draw it, whereupon he was shot at this juncture by the policeman.

FRANCE

FIRST TRIP memories of France are yours for life. The valley of the Loire with its rippled-roofed old houses, its time-mellowed chateaux under a sky in a hundred shades of snow and gray and peaceful blue... the sound of church bells in Brittany, in the crisp, silent air... the tang of Bouillabaisse in Marseilles, the sweetness of tiny wild strawberries with cream from an earthen pot in Grasse... The most vivid memory of all was the feel of the gangplank under your feet as you went abroad. You're in France itself the instant you cross over "the longest gangplank in the world" to the "Ile de France," "Paris" or "France"... Fastest service to Plymouth, England... then Le Havre... three hours, Paris.

PARK DEAL PROBE NEARS GRAND JURY COUNTY TO SET TAX RATE FRIDAY

The council resolution transmitting the record of the Parkersburg park investigation to Fulton grand jury was signed Wednesday afternoon by Mayor L. N. Ragsdale, with the probability that the evidence will arrive at Superior General John A. Boykin's office in time for presentation to the grand jury at its next regular session.

A probe into alleged irregularities of the purchase, which had been in progress for several weeks by the council's investigating committee, was concluded Monday when the committee returned its report.

Councilman Charles M. Ford, who with Sam P. Cronheim and J. A. Smith is alleged to have shared in a $20,000 commission on the deal, Monday morning from council after the committee had announced it would recommend his impeachment.

The $20,000 was paid last March as the initial installment on a $410,000 purchase price, of which Fulton county had agreed to pay $60,000. The first payment was made by Fulton county at formal request of city council.

Ford attributed his resignation to his desire to spare his friends further embarrassment in what he characterized an "unpleasant" situation.

Another investigation will be called this month by the Georgia real estate commission to determine if the real estate licenses of Mr. Ford and Mr. Cronheim should be revoked by virtue of their part in the deal, according to J. B. Everett, inspector for the commission.

George Bernard Shaw didn't write Saint Joan—merely "reported it," according to the author's own words as quoted by George K. Smith, Emory honoree, in a letter from London to friends at the university.

Mr. Smith recently was guest at a tea given by Lady Nancy Astor and also attended by the playwright, "She actually lived the life. I merely reported it. The facts were all there for anyone to use."

"What about Russia?" persisted Lady Astor.

"Russia is now very much the most advanced state in the world," said Mr. Shaw, "but whether she will get through with what she is attempting is still doubtful."

SOUTHERN RAILWAY TO BUILD SIDEWALK AT NEW BUILDING

The Southern railway Wednesday was authorized to construct a six-foot sidewalk on its own property on Spring street, from Mitchell to Nelson street.

Pedestrians thus will be afforded protection while walking on the northern side of Spring street in the block affected. The new sidewalk will be along the southern side of the new office building of the Southern railway.

Officials agreed to construct the sidewalk after Mayor L. N. Ragsdale took the matter up officially with the road chiefs and pointed out the hazard to pedestrians at the present time.

TALMADGE SCORES ADAMS' ATTITUDE

Thomasville, Ga., September 5.—(Special).—Launching a vigorous attack on the attitude of G. C. Adams, his opponent in the race for commissioner of agriculture, with respect to the fertilizer "trust," Eugene Talmadge, in an address here today, declared that during his tenure of office he had published fertilizer bulletins as a vital necessity to the farmers of the state.

"Mr. Adams has at last openly proclaimed his allegiance to the fertilizer trust by publishing this department for issuing fertilizer bulletins under my administration," the commissioner declared.

"Mr. Adams in his article not only exposes the 'nigger in his wood pile,' but exhibits the most absolute ignorance as to the operation of the present laws.

"I have had letters from numerous manufacturers of fertilizer objecting to the present laws, but until this day were the only man claiming to be a farmer who has offered any objection."

At present the county tax rate is one dollar on the hundred, with county-wide special tax of 10 cents, and a 75-cent school tax fixed by the legislature for districts lying outside Atlanta's corporate limits.

On petition of Alderman Oscar Williamson, of the fifth ward, the paving of Barnett street from Greenwood avenue to Virginia avenue was passed for early construction.

Work on the new asphalt pavement of Peachtree from Brookwood station to Buckhead will begin in about 10 days, it was said at the meeting.

The street was put on this year's program at a board meeting last spring but inclement weather has delayed the start. The car track races are to be paved with concrete, although it was indicated that this work will not start until the sides are put in good repair.

SUSPECT IN THEFT OF MONEY ORDER FORMS ARRESTED

Arrest of Thomas Evans in Jacksonville on charges of forging and passing money orders without strict enforcement of the fertilizer law. I have not only published these bulletins and mailed them out, of which Mr. Adams has sent me 11,000 farmers of Georgia individual reports on their fertilizer and, in each case where a fertilizer was submitted, he has furnished such a plain English statement of the amount of penalty which he was entitled to receive.

"Mr. Adams, in joining hands with the fertilizer trust, objecting to giving this information to the farmer, you show your true colors at last."

Birmingham, Ala., September 5.—(Special).—Donald Comer, president Avondale Cotton mills and son of the late ex-Governor B. B. The Taming of Elizabeth

By WINIFRED BOGGS

INSTALLMENT XVIII. ELIZABETH TELLS HER STORY.

How could dainty refined Vestington tolerate Blossom's presence at the lodge? She must be blind to what she was. To tell a highly strung young girl those horrors, those obscenities—! Stephen's blood boiled at the very thought of it.

Her voice shook as she continued: "And when I asked Mrs. Vestington to let me go she would not, but kept me like a prisoner with warders all around. And I used to see that girl hanging in my room at night from the bar where she really did it, and hear her fingers tap, tap, tapping on the window so that I nearly went mad, too. Only I ran away instead. She told him of her escape and Stephen listened bewildered. It was plain she had been frightened, partly by Blossom and partly by her own morbid imaginings but out of all her vague accusations, and obvious fear of the old lady, there was nothing definite he could get hold of. On the contrary, Mrs. Vestington had continued to spoil and pamper her to the utmost. At the same time, after she had known of the tragedy it did not fair to put the girl to sleep in the same room. Mrs. Vestington herself, possessing nerves of iron, expected others to be the same.

"But she was kind, really fond of you?" he got out at length. "Her kindness, her affection, made it worse; they were dreadful, too. I suppose people are kind to the animals they fatten up to feed upon. It was like that. Then she never left me for a moment, and there's nobody you would not come to hate if you were—were chained to them. Even at night she would open the door between us and look in and sometimes leave it ajar. And I was so alone—"

"When you had me? You had only to write! I told you that in my letters."

"Your letters! I never got a single line from you, and you never answered one of mine though I implored you to."

"But I kept writing and asking you to answer mine!" he gasped. She looked at him strangely. "Don't you see? She never gave me your letters, never sent mine. She read them all and destroyed any that would take me away from her absolute control. She even took away the money I had saved. O, she would not steal it, just put it in a safe place for my good. And I got so frightened of her, it was as if she had some dreadful power over me. She was cross when I was not well, not really kind, she said it made her feel ill, too. She does so dread age and death, it's—it's awful to see it, for it's got to come though she thinks it won't as long as she has young people with her. She is angry that they won't stay and save us from a lot of greedy vamps—"

"...but she has such cruel clutching hands, like claws. Of course, she never meant to take me abroad for a moment, it was just a dodge to keep me jolly and contented. Do you know her husband shot himself, I found out why he did it. "I wish I could!" he muttered. That sweet, little, pink and white lady! She turned on him in a flash. "Of course you don't understand! People without imagination have no real understanding. Mark would know what I mean."

His heart contracted jealously and he withdrew his arm. "O, Lennox is a genius, I am just a common sense person."

have common sense?" she demanded. "Why can't they have finer feelings, too, and just see a little under the surface. Mark has common sense as well as all the rest."

Before he could answer, Mrs. Smike, after a curt knock, was upon them. "Is the young person going or is she not?" she demanded. "Because if the answer is in the negative, I shall have her put out by the police."

"O, not the police again!" begged Elizabeth. "They are so tiresome, and interfere with one so. After all it's my private business and Mr. Whitby paid them to let me go."

Stephen uttered a despairing sound. How inconvenient innocence could be! "I haven't any clothes to go in," added Elizabeth. "How tiresome!"

"Very tiresome!" said Mrs. Smike, her nostrils extremely pinched. "Not in the least peculiar of course?"

"Not under the circumstances," said Elizabeth.

"Look here," said Stephen trying to prove master of the situation, "my ward will go as soon as I have got her a costume to go in. I am going now but in the meanwhile, as I don't wish her to suffer from your absurd insinuations and impertinences, I shall have her looked in here. Now clear out! Do you understand?"

Mrs. Smike swept to the door. "Well, I ask you! It's enough to make my Wesleyan minister grandfather turn in his grave!"

"I wish you were turning in yours—damn you!" exploded Stephen, utterly losing his temper. He pushed her, none too gently, from the room. "I'll go and get you some outdoor things," he said to his visitor, "O, and shoes and stockings—"

"O, Stephen, don't choose a hat and costume for me yourself," she implored him. "Remember I shall have to wear them. Let the girl help you. You would make me look like a charity orphan." Her face shadowed suddenly. "Why, of course, that's just what I am—a charity orphan. Yes, buy me charity clothes!"

"Elizabeth how can you say that?"

"Do you want me to shake you?"

"It will take a long time to pay back," she sighed. "When Mrs. Vestington sends me my twenty-six pounds, I shall give you some of that. O, Stephen, you did get the 20 pounds I sent anonymously after selling Aunt Dolly's jewelry? I was disappointed about that. I thought it was worth an awful lot and would pay you all back, but it was only paste. So I only got 30 pounds."

"You did that!" He was looking at her thunderstruck. "You, Dolly's niece, with such an exaggerated sense of honor!"

Elizabeth's eyes took fire. "You took it for granted I had none! And I saved 25 pounds when I ached to spend it on clothes to go abroad, for Mrs. Vestington said she would not take me if I did not buy new clothes—and I did not—"

"You poor ridiculous little darling!" she bent over her impulsively, but the girl drew back, her mouth compressed.

"Ridiculous, indeed!" she said, bitterly. "I suppose you think your widow an honest woman? I could never be, of course."

RIVERS' POSITION ON SMITH ASKED

State Senator E. D. Rivers, candidate for governor, is asked to state his position concerning his support of the national democratic ticket as he outlined it in a recent speech at East Point in a public meeting held Wednesday by the Hardman campaign headquarters in charge of Governor J. G. Hardman's candidacy for reelection. In this statement Senator Rivers is asked to say whether or not he declared in the speech in the presence of A. S. Chamblee that he would support the blackest republican in Georgia before he would vote for Al Smith for president.

This charge was made against Senator Rivers by Pope F. Brock, a Macon lawyer, and after it was made Senator Rivers entered vehement denial, declaring that he stated his support of the democratic state committee at the time he qualified.

Hardman Statement.
The statement issued by the Hardman campaign headquarters is as follows:

"From the very beginning of this campaign we have very carefully avoided any personal reference to Senator Rivers. We have contented ourselves with comment upon his official record as a member of both houses of the general assembly, and as proof of the conservatism of our comment upon that official record, we call your attention to the fact that not a single one of our statements has ever been disputed by either Senator Rivers or his campaign headquarters. Early in the campaign we were told, upon most excellent authority, that in a speech after speech delivered behind the locked doors of a secret order, Senator Rivers had declared that he would vote for the blackest negro in Georgia rather than vote for Al Smith."

"We made no use of this information although A. S. Chamblee, while still a candidate for the nomination, repeatedly declared that he had heard Senator Rivers make the statement. A few days ago, Pope F. Brock, a highly reputable Macon attorney, speaking from the same platform with Senator Rivers, charged him with the statement. And Senator Rivers has not denied it. He does say that he is now supporting Governor Smith, but nowhere can we find where he has denied that he said he preferred a negro to the democratic national candidate. But he does take occasion to launch another vicious attack upon Governor Hardman, who had nothing to do directly or indirectly with the matter to which Senator Rivers was supposed to be replying."

Question to Rivers.
"In view of that attack we are going to ask Senator Rivers to categorically answer 'Yes' or 'No' the following question: 'Did you state in a speech delivered by you at East Point, Ga., in the presence of A. S. Chamblee, who was invited by you to go from Atlanta with you to hear this speech, that you would vote for the blackest republican in the state of Georgia for president before you would vote for Al Smith for president?'"

"Did you by your statement to the Associated Press, reported that you intend to raise a question of veracity between yourself and A. S. Chamblee? It is well known that Mr. Chamblee stated several times before he became a candidate for governor and several times while he was a candidate for governor that you made this statement."

"Did you make this same statement in the first 'One Hundred Speeches' delivered by you in various parts of the state since you began your speaking campaign in Georgia?"

"In order that there may be no possibility of a misunderstanding, we ask Mr. Rivers to answer these questions over his own signature. And while you are waiting, probably in vain, for Mr. Rivers to make his answer, we want to call your attention to the fact that Governor Hardman's wholehearted support of the national ticket was made long ago, and not when he was confronted with the possibility that his name would not be allowed upon the official ballot."

A. & M. COLLEGE ENDS YEAR WITH $111,822

The Georgia State College of Agriculture and Mechanic Arts, ended the fiscal year June 30 with a balance of $111,822.53, and had receipts for the period of $22,239.24, according to the report of State Auditor Sam J. Slate, made to Governor Hardman Wednesday.

Of the aggregate receipts, $201,294.69 represented Smith-Lever fund contributions both federal and state, and federal and state extension funds. A total of 2,294 students, the combined attendance at both long and short-term courses, paid fees aggregating $30,806.00 during the year, but of this number only 940 were full term students enrolled in the long courses, it was set out.

Consolidated disbursements were found in the auditor's report to have been $887,208.98, making the excess of receipts over disbursements for the year $10,620.20.

Of the balance of $111,822.53 on hand June 30, $101,792.27 was a balance left over July 1, 1922.

Among interesting items of receipts was $12,076.79 from egg-laying contests conducted under direction of the college. It was indicated that the college lost slightly in promoting this branch of its work, however, for disbursements were given as $13,173.23.

The cafeteria on the "A Hill," as it is known to Georgia men, reported receipts of $21,342.73 for the year against disbursements of $20,644.36.

Cost of instruction at the college for the fiscal year ended June 30 was given in the consolidated disbursements as $120,727.39.

BRITISH SUBJECTS TO PRESENT CLAIMS FOR LOSS IN MEXICO

First meeting of the commission created to settle claims of British subjects arising from loss or damage from revolutionary acts between November 20, 1910, and May 31, 1920, will be held in Mexico City September 22, according to announcement of the British department of foreign affairs made Wednesday through H. M. Kaye, British consul here.

The commission was set up under the Anglo-Mexican convention of November 19, 1920, and copies of proceedings of the convention may be purchased direct from H. M. stationery office, Adastral House, Kingsway, London, the announcement says.

Claims must be presented within a period of nine months from the date of the first meeting of the commission, British subjects who desire to submit claims to the commission are warned that they should communicate at once, if they already have not done so, with the undersecretary of state for foreign affairs, foreign office, London.

BANK IN GOTHAM SEEKS RELATIVES OF ROBERT GILES

Somewhere in Georgia there is a person who may have a large sum of money coming to him and may have only a small sum of money, but no matter which The Constitution wants to find him, or her, as the case may be. Here's the situation.

The Seaman's Bank For Savings, a reputable institution of New York city, wrote the secretary of state Wednesday asking for information concerning the "next of kin" of Robert E. Giles. In a letter made public by Arthur T. Harris, chief clerk, Fred

S. Robbins, of the dormant account department of the bank, is seeking to locate this next of kin to Giles.

According to Mr. Robbins' letter, Giles is a depositor of the bank but has not been heard from for a number of years. The bank records show that he was born in 1860 at "Pry Hill," Georgia. Mr. Robbins has been unable to find where "Pry Hill" is located and believes that it is a local name associated probably with some family named "Pry."

If any person knows where "Pry Hill" is or can furnish any information concerning relatives of Robert E. Giles the bank would appreciate this information. It can be sent to Fred S. Robbins, Seaman's Bank For Savings, 74 Wall street, New York, according to Mr. Harris.

POSTOFFICE RECEIPTS TO SHOW $75,000 GAIN

Atlanta postoffice receipts for this year will show a gain of approximately $75,000 over those for last year, according to a forecast made Wednesday by J. J. Martin, assistant postmaster, in releasing the receipts for August. The August receipts showed a slight gain over those of the same month last year.

Receipts for August of this year were $302,590.38, or a gain of $3,964.45 over the $298,625.93 for August of 1922. Mr. Martin announced the gain for the year up to September 1 was $23,304.61 over the same period of last year, and as the receipts generally increase greatly during the last four months of the year over the figures of the spring and summer months, it is believed that the gain for the year will run close to $75,000, Mr. Martin said.

The bulk of this year's gain has been during July and August, the increases for the two months totaling $16,137.68, where the increase for the first two quarters of the year was only $13,256.93. The gain for the first quarter was $23,088.41, while the second quarter showed a loss of $9,831.48.

The Atlanta postoffice receipts have climbed steadily from $2,674,801.45 in 1921 to $4,510,429.55 in 1922.

COMMUNITY CHEST DRIVE OPENS NOV. 19

Atlanta's reorganized Community Chest will present its appeal for public support the week of November 19, according to plans announced Wednesday night by Rodney Morison, Jr., chairman of the executive committee. "The appeal this year will be based upon a definite pledge of human service; more effectively and economically performed than ever before," said Mr. Morison.

"Under the new organization the Community Chest, its contacts with the public are broader than before, and its equipment for service is more extensive and more satisfactory. The Chest has every confidence that its broadened program, covering every human need of welfare and reconstruction, and fired by a new spirit of service and new devices for efficiency, will meet a cordial response from the public, and that the 1923 campaign will be successful to a degree that has marked no previous Chest appeal—that the entire amount necessary for successful operation of its agencies will be subscribed."

It was explained that the campaign is later this year than formerly, because of the absence from Atlanta for a period in October of Harry M. Atkinson, president of the Chest. Under Mr. Atkinson's leadership the reorganization of the Community Chest was undertaken and a new force for effectiveness was developed. Mr. Morison said, and his presence during the period of the public appeal is desired.

The executive committee will select a campaign chairman within a few days, it was said. The choice is yet undecided among a group of outstanding Atlanta citizens.

Hagen and Sarazen Down Jones and Farrell in Match, 1-Up

Bob Almost Evens Round On 18th Hole

Jones Misses Eight-Foot Putt for Three; Farrell Badly Off Form.

Newton, Mass., September 5.—(AP)—A 5-foot putt which Bobby Jones missed holding by a cent half-inch enabled Walter Hagen and Gene Sarazen to defeat the national amateur champion and his teammate, Johnny Farrell, the open title, by one up here today in their 36-hole American Ryder cup benefit match on the Woodland course.

Bobby and Farrell were five down when they started the afternoon round and they watched this margin down to a single hole when both of them made the 17th in three, Hagen and Sarazen taking fours. Jones was on the 18th, eight feet from the pin, in two and the three other players required three strokes to get up with him. Bobby's putt rimmed the cup and the hole was halved, the match going to the Hagen-Sarazen team. Jones had a 70 on his morning round and a 67 for his second eight, making a total of 137 for the 36 holes. Hagen finished with a total of 129, Sarazen 140 and Farrell 144. The amateur champion shot beautiful golf on every one of the 36 holes but during the morning round Farrell was away off form. The open champion steadied down during the second round but the improvement came too late to overtake Hagen and Sarazen.

Women's Tourney In Quarter-Finals

Philadelphia, September 5.—(AP)—Mrs. Mulla Buxted, Mallory, New York, defending titleholder, and Mrs. George W. Wightman, Boston, seeded first and second, respectively, today reached the quarter-finals of the women's middle states tennis tournament.

Mrs. Mallory put out Charlotte Miller, New York, 6-2, 6-0, and Mrs. Wightman won a love victory over Mrs. L. B. Levinson, Philadelphia. Scoring a double triumph, Miss Anne R. Townsend, Philadelphia, reached the semi-finals ahead of the field. She defeated Dorothy Jarvis, Pittsburgh, in the third round, 6-1, 6-5, 6-0, and eliminated Florence Le Boutillier, New York, in the quarter-finals, 6-1, 6-4.

Others who advanced to the quarter finals included Dorothy Andrus, New York; Eleanor Cottman, Baltimore, and Alice Francis, Orange, New Jersey.

Three matches in the quarter-final round of doubles were completed, all the favorites advancing.

AFTER .400 MARK

JESSE C. BURKETT OF THE OLD CLEVELAND NATIONAL LEAGUE CLUB AND TY COBB ARE THE OTHERS WHO HAVE AVERAGED .400 OR BETTER THREE TIMES

BY JACK SORDS, Sport Cartoonist-Writer for Central Press and The Constitution.

The royal purple of the three times .400 hitters has draped the shoulders of but three men in all baseball history.

The first king of clubs to bat .400 or better for three seasons was Jesse Burkett, of the old Cleveland Nationals. Jesse hit the big numbers in 1895, 1896 and 1897.

There followed a 12-year famine of .400 swatters until 1911, when Ty Cobb came along and pounded the big average in that season and the fol-

GA.-ALA. SERIES IS POSTPONED UNTIL MONDAY

Carrollton, Ga., September 5.—On account of Aniston and Talladega finishing in a tie for first place in the second half and having to play this tie off, the opening game of the pennant series between Carrollton and the winner of the second half of the Georgia-Alabama league has been postponed until Monday of next week.

The Aniston-Talladega series will be the best two out of three games and unless rain interferes and prevents this series being finished by Saturday night the winner will play a series of the best four out of seven with Carrollton for the pennant starting Monday.

The first two games are scheduled to be played in Carrollton next Monday and Tuesday, September 10 and 11. The third and fourth games will be played in the Alabama town, the fifth in Carrollton and the sixth back in Alabama, provided it is necessary. If a seventh game is needed the place will be decided on later.

BELMONT PARK KID TEAMS MEET TODAY FOR TITLE

New York, September 5.—(AP)—Harry Payne Whitney's Victorian, held at 1 to 7 in the betting, made a show of his field in winning the Manhattan handicap, a mile gallop which featured the card at Belmont park today. He ran eight furlongs in 1:27.35 and worked out a mile and a half as final preparation for the Lawrence Realization.

Victorian covered the mile and a quarter in 2:05.35 and the mile and a half in 2:35.35. He was under restraint to win by two lengths. His field had a hard time keeping within a respectable distance.

Prince Tina was second by a head over Penalo. Light Carbine was the fourth starter, with Sun Forward and Sun Edwin scratched.

Little Gyp, with L. Jones up, won the feature fifth race of five and half furlongs at Arlington park by half a length over Nicaragua, a field of 12 two-year-olds. Nicaragua, early leader, saved second money from Linda, a member of the field, by only a nose.

Little Gyp took the lead in the stretch and won by a head. She paid $7.46 on a $2 ticket. The purse was $12,000.

Sweepstakes, an aged but able distaff furlong at Arlington park, in the featured fifth race at Bainbridge park. He covered the mile and 70 yards in 1:45, and paid $6.00 on a $2 ticket. He was second and Francis Rock third.

Laverne Fator, who had the leg up on Victorian, made it a double, as he had taken the first race at Belmont park on Single Star.

NEW WORLD'S RECORD SET BY VON ELM

Newport, R. I., September 5.—A new world's record for medal play in tournament golf today was set by George Von Elm, of Detroit, in winning the gold medal golf tournament at Ocean Links here.

His score for the 72 holes, the last 18 of which were played today, was 212, two strokes better than that made in the national open a few years back by Emmet French.

Maurice McCarthy, of New York, and D. Clarke Cockran, of Baltimore, were tied for second with 233. A silver medal was awarded each.

Von Elm played spectacular golf in today's final round, getting birdies on the last three holes. He astonished the gallery with a brilliant 20-yard putt on the 71st hole.

Others who competed were Jess Sweetser, of New York, former British open champion; Eddie Moore, of New York; Roland McKenzie, Washington; Harrison Johnson, St. Paul; Richard A. Jones, Jr., of New York; Watts Gunn, Atlanta; Francis Quimet, Boston; Jess Guilford, Boston; Eustace G. Anderson, of New York; and Tommy Taylor, Newport, R. I.

Chicago, September 5.—(AP)—Two kid baseball teams from the two coasts of the national will be fighting for the boys' world's championship when Oakland, Cal., and Worcester, Mass., meet Friday in the first of a three-game series at Comiskey park. The two clubs are the survivors of 8,764 teams with a roster of 12,000 boys under 16 years of age that started play in the American Legion and lot tournament in May.

The Atlantic seaboard team is entering the final round with an impressive record of having won nine championships this season and losing only one game. Wilson Dunlap, Jr., a big curly haired lad, has carried the brunt of the mound work, turning in 21 victories in 22 games, averaging 10 strikeouts to the game.

Even more impressive is the record of the Oakland juniors, who have lost only one game in the campaign to the final round. In 16 games played the Californians have scored 167 runs while holding their opponents to four. The state championship series finals saw three more champions.

One umpire each from the staff of the American and National leagues will work the games, the second of which will be played Saturday. If the teams break even in the first two games, the deciding contest will be played Monday.

Bill Gibson Claims World Championsh As Charity Boss

New York, September 5.—(United News).—Offering to eat his golf knickers in public if another fight manager could be found who had contributed more of his fighters and their purses to charities than he had, Billy Gibson announced that the final papers had been signed making him the unqualified manager of Knute Hansen and that he had taken the fight for charity October 12.

Gibson said: "I am the unqualified manager of Knute Hansen. The final papers have been signed. I say this to deny emphatically that Tex Rickard has anything to do with the management of Hansen. Recently it was charged that Madison Square Garden had decided upon Hansen as a hand-made champion and that I had been named as a sort of 'front man' to manage him for Rickard. That is not so."

"Some weeks ago I looked the field over for a man who, in my opinion, would have the best chance at the championship vacated by my former boxer, Gene Tunney. Hansen seemed to me then and does seem to me now as the likely looking candidate."

"I Ask You—" will work the games, the second of which will be played Saturday. If the teams break even in the first two games, the deciding contest will be played Monday.

As for Hansen fighting for charity, Gibson said, a lot of fuss has been made about Hansen pitching right in and boxing for charity. I ask you, isn't that a funny way to raise a fellow who hasn't drawn on a glove for months and who has no other business to meet his wants and is a younger at the game?

"My answer to the charity thing is this: Show me another manager who has participated in as many charity shows or contributed more of his fighters and their purses to charities and I will eat all my golf knickers in public. That fact alone should show everyone that any boxer of my management will participate in worthy charities. In justice to Tex Rickard, I will point out that he has given shows netting more than half a million dollars to charity."

Hansen is leaving in a few days for the Adirondacks. He will take preliminary training to get in shape for a hard winter campaign.

The big Dane is a citizen of this country. He came here from Copenhagen when he was 8 years old and his father, who now lives at Racine, Wis., became a citizen here.

ADMIRAL WRIGHT, CONFEDERATE NAVY VETERAN, PASSES

St. Augustine, Fla., September 5.—(AP)—Admiral A. O. Wright, 84, member of the fast thinning ranks of the men who saw service in the Confederate navy during the war between the states, and who recently had devoted years of his time toward clearing up the records of those who served in that branch, died here today at Flagler hospital. He formerly was a municipal judge in Jacksonville.

He is survived by one daughter, Mrs. Mary W. Matthews of this city and several grandchildren.

The SPORTLIGHT

Ask Any Football Coach.

When Roscoe Magee hit the trail into college. There wasn't a coach who would give him a look. For he was the type whose collection of knowledge You'd think must emerge from a tome or a book; His brow was too high—so they cursed at their luck While looking for roughnecks who knew how to buck.

Now Magee didn't weigh quite a hundred and fifty. But he was a dynamo under full steam; He was not only fast, he was wiry and shifty, And more than a wonder at driving a team; And then when the coach saw his work on the lot He offered three cheers till his tonsils grew hot.

The moral is—as they cry unto heaven For two-hundred-pounders to answer their search, A fast, heady quarter to drive an eleven Means more than a tackle as big as a church; You can always find use in the thick of the strain For a bundle of nerves that is hooked to a brain.

The Battle of Brae Burn.

NO. 1—THE QUALIFIERS.

Attempting to name the 32 qualifiers at Brae Burn in the coming amateur golf championship is practically as simple as nicking three numbers in a row on the turn of a roulette wheel.

There are always stars who fail—and there are always unknowns or outside choices who slip neatly through and report for match play. There will be stars from the big field at Brae Burn who will fail again. There will be names you have barely listed among the survivors. They play 18 holes on Monday and 18 holes on Tuesday, and the best 32 scores round up the match play field. And yet there are over 100 golfers quite capable of qualifying—on their better days.

Who are the ten best selections—the ten who are almost certain to make the grade.

Bobby Jones, George Von Elm, Jess Sweetser, Francis Quimet, Perkins, of England—there you have five, anyway. Harrison Johnston is the sixth. Then there are Gene Homan, metropolitan champion; Frank Dolp, western champion; Maurice McCarthy, intercollegiate champion; George Voight, Long Island open; Roland Mackenzie and Watts Gunn, Walker team entries; Chick Evans, former double champion; seven more members from the British Walker open team; such far west stars as Don Moe, Dr. Willing, Don Stein, Phil Finlay (from Los Angeles), Dawson brothers, Fred Wright, Jesse Guilford and Clarke Cockran. The surest entries from this list should be Homan, McCarthy, Finlay, MacKenzie, Voight, Dolp, Moe and Evans.

Just how many of the British will qualify is uncertain. Probably not over three from the eight—and this would be a first-class average. Homan, Finlay and McCarthy have been fine medal players for some time. Homan and Finlay set the fastest early pace at Minneapolis. McCarthy has been playing better than ever. So has Homan.

These three youngsters should be on hand for the first grapple at match play. They have the experience now—as well as the scoring game. Those who care for puzzles might attempt to pick the 32 qualifiers, and see later how many correct names they planted. Twenty-five would be high iron for the campaign to the final round.

What About Knute Hansen?

Knute Hansen has shown that he is the hardest puncher in the heavyweight class, and one of the best boxers.

But he has yet to show that he is extremely fond of rough milling when the other party decides to put on a counter charge. He can hit and box—and this is a good bit more than most of the others can do. A few of them can box—almost none of them can hit.

For example, Phil Scott outpointed Tom Heeney twice, and had about an even turn with Johnny Risko. Heeney and Risko were the two leading survivors after Sharkey's double failure. Yet Hansen stopped Scott in a round. He has at least the possibilities for crowd appeal that none of the others have shown. He is young, powerful and fast. With the right encouragement and the right direction he should have more qualities to draw on. Like Jack Sharkey, he ought to be better than he has been. At any rate, he hasn't had his chance to date—not as much of a shot as the others have drawn—and it was interesting to see how far he can go. Hansen's punching ability would make him one of the big cards of a boxing period where big cards are scarcer than long distance aviators who can keep from getting lost.

Hansen and Sharkey have shown more possibilities than any of the others when it comes to natural ability and 90 per cent of all the physical requirements.

The duffer can play two holes as well as the champion, but the main trouble is that the regulation course is supposed to have 18 holes.

One of the best ways to pick the winner in the National league is to wait about three more weeks.

Michel, Lone Survivor, Quits $25,000 Swim

Frenchman Taken From Water at 12-Mile Post in Lake Ontario.

Toronto, Ont., September 5.—(United News).—The icy waters of Lake Ontario proved too severe today for the 250 odd contestants who entered the $35,000 Wrigley swimming marathon and all of them were forced to give up their efforts to complete the swim.

Georges Michel, 18-year-old Frenchman, was the last of the swimmers to quit, being taken out of the water at 10:17 p. m.

Of all the eager swimmers, among the best of many nations, who entered the water this morning in the hope of winning the $25,000 first prize, Michel was the only one left tonight and he made a brave attempt to finish the race in the darkness.

Officials of the race announced shortly before Michel was taken from the water that no prizes would be awarded if none of the swimmers reached the finish line.

Handlers Satisfied.

Michel's handlers said they were satisfied with his showing when he succeeded in passing at about 9:30 p. m. the mark at which Ernest Vierkotter, the giant German swimmer, was forced to abandon the swim. Vierkotter, winner of last year's race, was leading the field at about 7 p. m., when he was taken from the water frozen through and through. He was still under doctors' care at 10:30 tonight.

Michel had covered 12.1 miles of the 15-mile course when he was forced to give up and permit his handlers to drag him into the launch which accompanied him throughout the evening.

Before submitting to being pulled out, however, Michel asked through lips that were numbed with the intense cold:

"Have I beaten the German?"

When his handlers advised him that he had surpassed the mark of Vierkotter, Michel's strong overhand stroke came to a rest, he rolled over on his back, and permitted his aides to lift him from the icy water.

Elwood Hughes, official in charge of the swim, refused to indicate whether any of the $35,000 in prize money would be paid, since none of the swimmers completed the course. He confirmed and made official, however, the fact that Michel had surpassed all the other swimmers in total distance as well as in elapsed time in the water.

Taken to Hospital.

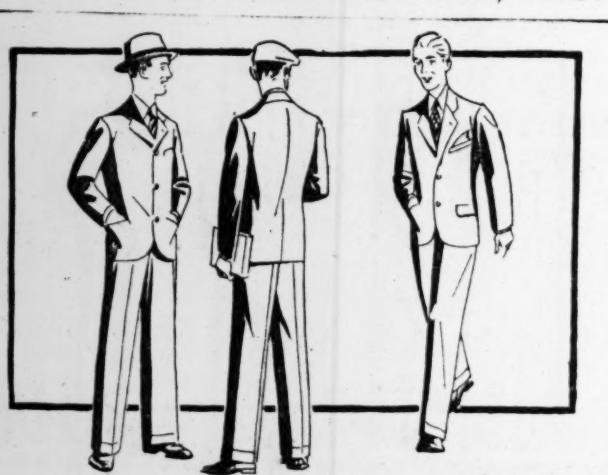

Twenty minutes after leaving the water Michel was carried into the hospital station and a corps of doctors at once started on the work of reviving him. They said, after a few minutes, however, that he was in far better shape than many of those who dropped out of the race earlier.

Vierkotter, the giant German baker, who was Michel's chief rival in the race, was in a particularly bad physical condition when taken from the water shortly after dusk. Doctors labored over him for several hours, but at 10:45 p. m. they announced he was about ready to walk unassisted from the hospital station.

Wants to Rest.

Bill Agee, American marathon runner, who at last finished the race, says he will not run another marathon for at least a year but will compete in short distance runs. He's saving his strength.

16-YEAR-OLD BOY SHATTERS RIFLE RECORD

Camp Perry, Ohio, September 5.—(AP)—A new world's record was established by Lawrence Wilkens, the 16-year-old school boy of Norwood, Ohio, today when he made a possible score of 400 points while shooting in the short range team match on the small bore range in the National Rifle Association meet.

Wilkens had a string of 40 consecutive bullseyes on the 50 and 100-yard ranges. His mark is believed to be the world's record. This is the same course which is used in firing the international small bore team match to be held next Sunday when the American riflemen will compete with the international teams.

L. J. Miller made the previous world's record at Sengier, N. J., in 1924 when he scored 399 with one point down on his 50-yard target.

Wilkens crowded David McDougal, Washington, D. C., in the race for the national championship in the small bore individual match held last Saturday, when McDougal had 297 and Wilkens had 296 out of a possible 300. Wilkens trying to place on the international small bore team which will try for the Dewar trophy.

In competition with five teams of six men each, the Ohio civilian team shot its way to the top by piling up a score of 2,372 out of a possible 2,400. For second place the Pennsylvania Fire team had 2,331. The district of Columbia was third with 2,325. District of Columbia civilian team fourth, 2,211 and the Illinois civilian team fifth with 2,235.

"Gosson" Wins.

Rochester, N. Y., September 5.—(United News).—The "Gosson" of Detroit, won the Richardson cup and the class "R" boat championship of the Great Lakes on Lake Ontario this afternoon.

The Gosson led the defender, the Katha, of Watertown, Ky., 14 minutes. The Detroit boat was ahead the first buoy and increased the lead along all six buoys of the triangular course.

The Katha was second in the series and the Oriole, of Chicago, third, both in today's race and in the series.

Be Bold With Your Approach Shots

BOBBY'S IRON PLAY IN WIND

IF SHOT NORMALLY DEMANDS A NO. 2 IRON, BUT IF SLOWER INTO HEAD WIND USES MASHIE-IRON TO HIT 16 HARDER WITH WIND

BY SOL METZGER.

Most average golfers lack boldness with their irons. Few ever over approach a green. The vast majority drop short. The opposite is true among stars. They boldly go for the greens. It is a rare thing to see one drop short.

The principle of bold play with irons has been one reason for the success of Bobby Jones. I recall him chipping back from past the hole on one occasion in the last two United States open championships. Bobby uses this same boldness when the wind is high. It has served him in good stead to win two British open titles.

Here's his recipe: Suppose his approach demanded a No. 2 iron under normal conditions such as no wind would bring about. Now suppose a strong wind is blowing from the green toward him. Bobby then uses a No. 1 iron and lets down a bit in power. A ball so hit for some reason or other bounces into a head wind.

With the wind behind him on such a shot he would use a mashie-iron carries No. 3), and he wallops it for keeps. A hard hit ball with the wind back of it seem to pick up elevation. That carries it farther and tends to add stop to the finish. Good points to bear in mind when the wind worries you.

Fully 90 per cent of the golfers slice. The causes are curable. Send stamped, addressed envelope to Sol Metzger, care the Constitution, and request his illustrated leaflet on "Slicing."

Final Boat Race Slated for Today

New Port Harbor Yacht Club, Calif., September 5.—(United News). The fifth and final race of the 1928 International Star boat championships was called off late today when the long boats failed to finish the 10-mile course in the required 3-1/2 hours.

The race will be resailed Thursday, the regatta committee ruled.

MONEY IS ALLOTTED TO REPAIR LEVEES

Washington, September 5.—(AP)—Allotment of $27,148 for the repair of levees damaged by the 1927 floods in districts Nos. 1 and 2 on the Little Red river, Arkansas, was made today by the war department from the $1,000,000 emergency flood control fund of which $235,950 has been allotted to date.

SMITH CLEARING DESK FOR ACTION

BY PAUL F. HAUPERT,
Associated Press Staff Writer.

Albany, N. Y., September 5.—(AP)—To the casual observer there was little about Governor Smith today that would have stamped him the presidential nominee of the democrats.

His mind was on state affairs, almost to the complete exclusion of national politics, and as he put in a lunch at the capital, clearing his desk of accumulated business, he gave no outward appearance of concern over his candidacy.

About the only political touch given the nominee's day was a visit paid him by William Mitchell, former assistant chief of the army air service, who several years ago stirred up a ruckus by his outspoken criticism of the nation's fighting machine, particularly as applied to aviation, and brought down on his head a court-martial.

Son of Democrat
Mitchell is the son of a former democratic senator from Wisconsin, and he called upon Governor Smith to pay his respects to the president-elect.

Later the nominee said his visitor had assured him all was well in Wisconsin from the standpoint of his candidacy—something that also is being stressed by other supporters of the Smith-Robinson ticket, who are already claiming the only state that went for La Follette in 1924.

For a brief period during the day Governor Smith also put aside his work for a press conference, but he had little to offer in the way of news, and declined to be drawn out for publication on any political subject. He still was keeping to himself his speechmaking itinerary plans, and had no comment on the announced intention of Herbert Hoover to make campaign speeches in both Newark, N. J., and New York city.

Announcement This Week
Although the governor is expected to show his hand at least partly before the end of the week with an announcement as to where and when he will open up his campaign, he is keeping his own counsel as to his plans. He is in constant touch by telephone with his managers in New York and is receiving reports, directly or indirectly, from lieutenants in all sections of the country, but he is abstaining almost entirely from political conferences which usually make up the daily routine of a presidential nominee.

So quietly is the New York governor shaping up his attack that there has been no indication what course, if any, he will pursue in meeting the "whispering campaign" against him, which already has been assailed on the stump by his running mate, Senator Robinson.

Many of Governor Smith's friends and followers, calculating the odds on his performances during gubernatorial campaigns, are confident that at what he considers the psychological moment he will turn on his accusers, perhaps dressing them down in one of his campaign speeches.

Those who expect this course recall that in his races for governor the presidential nominee took cognizance of "whispering" campaigns against him and referred to them in all the stump. He is watching developments in the present campaign with intense interest, but for the moment is leaving it to the democratic national committee to spot the centers of "whispering" campaigning and to take combative measures.

ITALIAN DIRIGIBLE TO SEEK LOST MEN

Rome, September 5.—(AP)—The dirigible N-5, a sister ship of the lost Italia, is being prepared for a final attempt to locate those of the Italia's crew last seen with the bag, says Giornale d'Italia today.

The dirigible will have Maibach motors and in a few technical details will differ from its ill-fated predecessor. It is said General Nobile is supervising the work and it is expected that the N-5 will be taken to the Ciampino flying field before the end of the week.

The newspaper says that General Nobile and the other experts who are preparing for the expedition are skeptical about the fires seen on Franz Joseph Land as being significant of the whereabouts of the missing men from the Italia. They are determined, however, that something must be done within a few weeks as the long polar night is at hand.

The newspaper relates further that General Nobile is going over all the scientific data brought back from the north in the hope of finding something that will aid in determining the methods to be adopted with the N-5.

It was announced Wednesday. Proceeds from the entertainment will go to the building fund of the South Side Baptist church.

A "popularity contest" will be staged, and the young women selling the most tickets will receive a handsome prize.

Aimee's $2,500 Gift to Judge

RECALLS HER KIDNAPING STORY

May Cause Investigation

Los Angeles, September 5.—(AP)—The revelation that Judge Carlos A. Hardy, of the Los Angeles superior court, accepted $2,500 from Aimee Semple McPherson and her mother after the Angelus Temple pastor returned here with her story of having been kidnapped, caused a stir in official quarters today but whether it would result in an investigation remained in doubt.

The new angle of the evangelist's adventure, which occupied the attention of courts intermittently for two years, came to light yesterday when Judge Hardy confirmed a statement made in Seattle by Mrs. McPherson's mother, Mrs. Minnie Kennedy. Judge Hardy said he accepted the money as a "free will offering" which the Angelus Temple leaders insisted upon giving him for legal advice.

The question of a new investigation was laid aside by the county prosecutor's office after District Attorney Asa Keyes telegraphed his deputies to take no action in the case until he returns from his vacation.

The check, according to both the Temple pastor's mother and Judge Hardy, was presented to him soon after the return of Mrs. McPherson from the Mexican desert with her story of having been kidnapped. At that time reports had not yet been circulated that the evangelist had been staying in a Carmel, Cal., cottage accompanied by Kenneth G. Ormiston, Temple radio operator, and no criminal charges had been made. Judge Hardy said. The judge later testified in behalf of Mrs. McPherson in her conspiracy trial, in which the state disclaimed the case.

He declared that for three years previously he had given the Temple leaders legal advice on the handling of their finances. Frequently they asked him to present a bill. He said that could not be done as he was a superior court judge, but that he would accept anything they wished to pay him. Later he received the check.

Two suits filed recently by lot buyers in a Lake Tahoe, Cal., subdivision in which they accused the evangelist of misrepresentation, threatened today to be fought out in the courts. At the close of a conference of attorneys, S. S. Hahn, counsel for the lot buyers, who are members of the Temple congregation, said settlement out of court was impossible.

ROBINSON ATTACKS G. O. P. FARM PLANK

Little Rock, September 5.—(AP)—Welcomed back to his native state by a crowd at Texarkana, on the Arkansas-Texas boundary, Senator Robinson late today delivered a platform speech attacking the republican plank on farm relief and then moved on here for a six-hour stop before leaving for Nashville, Tenn., for another campaign address tomorrow night.

The vice presidential nominee, who spent a busy day preparing speeches on the way here from Cisco, Texas, declared in the Texarkana address that the republicans had done "nothing but talk, talk, talk" on the farm question for eight years, and said what was wanted now was action and that "Al Smith will give us that."

The senator said that all the information needed on the farm problem was in the hands of the federal government and that the republicans had worked out a relief plan.

Vincent M. Miles, democratic national committeeman from Arkansas, boarded the senator's private car at Arkadelphia, about 75 miles west of here, and informed the senator of the presidential nomination of work being done in the state. He said his report was "most encouraging."

At a station where he was met at the station by Representative Heartsill Ragon, of the Little Rock congressional district, who is in charge of the national campaign in Arkansas and who, like Miles, was optimistic over the outlook.

Because of the rather long stop-over here, Mr. Robinson and his wife went to their home in the suburbs for a few hours before retiring for the night on the car.

The senator's schedule calls for a 30-minute stop in Memphis tomorrow, leaving there at 7:30 a. m. and reaching Nashville at 2:30 p. m.

Mr. Robinson, who is a carpenter, is being held for further observations at the hospital, and the full extent of his injury has not been determined.

Organization Head Of 35,000 Farmers To Support Smith

St. Paul, September 5.—(AP)—J. F. Reed, an avowed republican for 40 years, resigned today as president of the Minnesota Farm Bureau Federation to campaign actively for Governor Smith for president.

Reed said he quit as head of the non-political organization of 35,000 farmers to support the democratic presidential candidate because he considered Smith's pronouncements and platform "embrace the principles held vital to any adequate farm relief plan."

Both the republican platform and Mr. Hoover, he said, have confined their agricultural pledges "to vague generalities which in no way define or suggest nor promise the remedy long sought by American agriculture."

Sec. Davis Reports Swing to Hoover In Western Section

Washington, September 5.—(AP)—Republican national headquarters has made public a statement by Secretary Davis, of the war department, who has just returned from the west, which says there has been "a notable swing to Hoover" since both presidential nominees made their acceptance speeches.

"The people seem to regard the Hoover speech," the statement quoted Davis, "as constructive, comprehensive and indicating a sincere intention on the part of the nominee to do his utmost to remedy conditions which call for governmental treatment. The women of the country are particularly appreciative of his concern over the welfare of women and children."

"The reaction to the Smith speech, as I got it, was not so favorable. While apparently frank, it offered no solution of the problems discussed and frequently the democratic nominee's address has been characterized as couched in wessel words."

TAX RECEIPTS FIGURE IN ELECTION CONTEST

Washington, September 5.—(AP)—Counsel for William B. Wilson, who is contesting the election to the senate of William S. Vare, of Pennsylvania, continued today to advance the contention that tax receipts had been wrongfully obtained in that state.

A. B. Hurshman, on behalf of Wilson, brought to the stand before the senate investigating committee today the receipts of the Pennsylvania League of Women Voters, and her sister, Mrs. R. Templeton Smith, chairman of the Allegheny County league of the same organization, to testify regarding the issuance of 58 tax receipts in the name of the state.

The receipts were shown to the 58 receipts were shown by Samuel D. Foster, county treasurer, at Pittsburgh in September, 1927, upon their demand and that he had informed them that under the practice prevailing unlimited numbers of such receipts could be obtained upon written orders from individuals.

After the witnesses had been excused Chairman Waterman agreed with counsel for Wilson and Vare upon methods to be used by them in their arguments before the committee concerning the poll tax stub books from Pennsylvania now in the custody of the committee.

Wilson indicated that he desired to refer to some of the books to support his claim of fraud.

State Senator John Dwyer, chairman of the committee, said he had information that certain downtown building owners were buying officials of the committee in which taxing officials were interested.

Among the buildings whose owners or agents were subpoenaed were Orchestra hall, the Auditorium hotel, the Transportation building and the Continental and Commercial bank.

FARM LOAN FRAUD

CHARGED TO SEVEN

Boston, September 5.—(AP)—Seven mid-western financiers were charged with conspiracy to use the mails in a scheme to defraud through the sale of nearly $1,000,000 worth of securities in farm loan companies in a joint indictment returned by a federal grand jury here today.

Those named in the indictment were Guy Huston, John E. Huston, John L. Boyles and Harold A. Smith, all of Chicago; Walter E. Cravens, Kansas City; Oren E. Schee and Vernon U. Sigler, Des Moines.

The charges involve the sale of securities in three companies, the Missouri-Kansas Farm company, the Farm Company of Massachusetts and the Farmers Fund of Illinois. It is charged that the companies were represented as having been organized to lend money to farmers and banks in the middle west and to take second mortgages on farms already mortgaged to the federal joint stock land banks. The government alleges that the men under indictment misused the funds of the companies by putting them into mid-western banks in which they were interested, and by causing the companies to loan the money to any local banks for the benefit of farmers and in only a few instances took any second mortgages on farms already mortgaged to the land banks.

Securities in the companies were sold to many prominent residents of Massachusetts and New England including President A. Lawrence Lowell of Harvard, who is said to have purchased $70,000 worth of securities of the Farm Company of Massachusetts.

Other purchasers were said to include Frank C. Paine, Irving H. Niles, D. Brewer Eddy and Roger Ernst, as well as several Boston brokerage houses.

None of the persons indicted is in Boston.

Coolidge Shows Trapshooting Prowess at Fair

Superior, Wis., September 5.—(AP)—Breaking his rule of not emerging from the seclusion of Cedar Island lodge more than twice a week, President Coolidge attended the tri-state fair in Superior today.

Accompanied by Mrs. Coolidge, the chief executive motored 40 miles from the lodge to mingle with the thousands at the fair grounds.

Driving quickly past the side shows and amusement hour, Mr. Coolidge stopped in front of the livestock exhibits where cows, sheep and hogs elicited his admiration.

Most of Mr. Coolidge's time at the fair, however, was given over to watching trotting races. Seated in a special flag-draped box in the grandstand, both the chief executive and Mrs. Coolidge displayed the keenest interest in the trotting. Mr. Coolidge especially requiring minute information about various horses entered. An agricultural exhibition also was inspected by the president before returning to the executive residence.

Pestered by reporters and press photographers for weeks to permit them to witness his ability at trapshooting, President Coolidge consented today to allow them to be present as he shattered 29 targets out of 37 aimed at.

Unconcerned and untroubled by the presence of so many witnesses, and not allowing his aim to be influenced by the clicking and purring of the pneumatic machine, Mr. Coolidge made his score in less than half an hour. Wearing his ten-gallon hat and a red necktie, he fired 15 shots, missing only one. The targets were shattered in the air when about 40 yards distant.

The chief executive explained that until this summer he had done no shooting for 15 years. Before then he used to hunt woodchucks. As a boy he said he could remember filling an evolutionary muskrat loading gun and a still older flintlock with dried peas to shoot at squirrels.

District Attorney John Monaghan announced that he would ask that bail be fixed at not less than $100,000.

Goldberg, who was questioned by the grand jury today, was declared by Mr. Monaghan to have been the source from which gunmen had obtained machine guns, bullet-proof vests, silencers, shotguns and other weapons used in gang murders.

Taken to the district attorney's office before he was called into the jury room, Goldberg admitted, the prosecutor said, that he had sold weapons and ammunition and that he had no record of the persons to whom the sales were made.

How an Expectant Mother Prepared for Baby's Coming

It has been proven conclusively that much of the suffering experienced during expectancy, as well as at childbirth, is entirely unnecessary.

Tight tissues, binding muscles, sensitive nerves—all tend to set up an aggravated condition—sapping strength and leaving the expectant mother unprepared to meet the crisis.

Mother's Friend is a comfort to expectant mothers. Externally applied, it relieves pre-natal distress by relaxing tight tissues and muscles. And it is so soothing. Its daily use makes the skin soft and pliable.

Mrs. C. J. Hartman, Scranton, Pa., writes: "With my first two children I had a doctor and a nurse and they had to use instruments, but with my last two children I used Mother's Friend and had only a nurse; we had no time to get a doctor because I wasn't very sick—only about ten or fifteen minutes."

Mother's Friend is the discovery of an eminent physician. It contains no narcotics or harmful drugs. For over three generations Mother's Friend has relieved expectant mothers of much useless suffering. Begin using Mother's Friend today. The sooner the better. Sold by drug stores—everywhere.

Diet and Health

BY LULO HUNT PETERS, M. D.

ODE TO PETERSIZING.

I feared that I was getting stout,
So on the street, one day,
I dropped a penny in the slot
And gave myself a weigh.

The figure there exposed to view
Proved a very sad surprise;
But when my eyes fell on those scales,
The scales fell from my eyes.

In order to reduce my weight
I purchased me a wheel;
Before I'd ridden it a week,
I fell off a good deal.

But in spite of Newton's famous law
And all his just renown,
I found my weight still grew so great,
I could not keep it down.

But now I carol all the day:
I'm down to normal size;
I'm a healthy, happy, handsome guy:
I've learned to Petersize."

—A. L. G.

To the new readers, I'll explain that Petersizing is a term my followers coined, meaning sizing to normal by counting calories. To show you that it works both ways, I'll give another contribution. And for those who are interested in Petersizing, I'll explain that our pamphlet on the subject gives specific directions, the foundation diet, and a sufficient list of foods and their caloric values to tide you over until you can get a textbook on the subject.

I am glad to run these contributions for I know they will be instrumental in converting a great many.

"Dear Doctor Lulu: I wish I had my picture taken before the increasing weight. A year ago I weighed 95 pounds. Was anemic, had stomach trouble and constipation and thought the less I ate the better I ought to feel.

"Counting the calories I was consuming, I found I was having about one-half the right number. Increasing them gradually, as you suggest, until I was getting 500 to 1,000 more than my maintenance, I gained 20 pounds, so now weigh 115 and I feel fine all the time. I used to be a slave to pills, but no more. I don't even give the children castor oil any more, as I find it is not necessary when on the balanced diet. We escaped severe colds, tonsillitis, etc., that we had been subject to.

"This reads like a patent medicine testimonial, but I mean it. Dr. Peters' favorite prescriptions are not draining on the pocketbook, are delightful to take, and they produce results! Just eat and grow fat, and take the abdominal exercises to keep the fat from settling on the tummy.

Note: The abdominal exercises Mrs. B. refers to, are explained in the article "The Atonic Abdominal Wall." See directions for obtaining.

Editor's Note: Dr. Peters cannot diagnose, nor give personal advice. Your questions, if of general interest, will be answered in the column, in turn. Requests for articles must be accompanied by a fully self-addressed, stamped envelope and 2 cents in coin for each article, to cover cost of printing and handling. For the pamphlet on reducing and gaining, 10 cents in coin, with fully self-addressed, stamped envelope, must be enclosed. Address Dr. Peters, in care The Atlanta Constitution.

Tomorrow: Answer to Mothers.

FIND THIRD BODY, ONE OF SIX PLANE CRASH VICTIMS

Seattle, Wash., September 5.—(AP)—Coast guardsmen today had recovered the body of Alexander MacCallum Scott, former member of the British parliament, who with six other persons, lost his life when a Columbia Airways monoplane plunged into Puget Sound August 25.

The body, the third found, was located as guardsmen were carefully holding what was believed to be the submerged wreck of the plane near Port Townsend, Wash. The object has been towed to shallow water and the arrival of a salvage tug and diver from here was awaited for further investigation.

BURGESS CHILDREN'S STORIESA NEST IN A QUEER PLACE.

BY THORNTON W. BURGESS.

Who would avoid domestic strife? Will leave decisions to his wife.

—Whitefoot the Wood Mouse.

Whitefoot and Mrs. Whitefoot did a lot of scurrying around inside the little sugar house of Farmer Brown's. Mrs. Whitefoot wouldn't be satisfied until they had their nest completed and the first thing to do was to decide where they would have it. There were all sorts of wonderful places for the nest of a Wood Mouse and there was plenty of material to build it of.

In that little sugar house was a bunk and on that bunk was an old mattress. Whitefoot thought it would be wonderful to make a hole in that and make their nest inside, but Mrs. Whitefoot said no. She couldn't give a real good reason for not making a nest there, but she was opposed to it.

"All right, my dear," said Whitefoot, "just as you say. There's a nice dark corner underneath. How will that do?"

"It won't do at all," replied Mrs. Whitefoot, and went on running about. Then, up on a shelf Whitefoot discovered a box with a little opening in it. "I've got it!" he cried. "This is just the place for it."

Mrs. Whitefoot scrambled up and looked it over. Perhaps if she had discovered it first it would have suited her. But she hadn't discovered it. Whitefoot had discovered it—so Mrs. Whitefoot promptly said it wouldn't do. But she failed to give any good reason why it wouldn't do. It just wouldn't, that was all.

He sat on the edge of a shelf, combed his fur, made his toilet and watched Mrs. Whitefoot running about this way and that way, quite as if she didn't know what she was about. Finally she disappeared.

Whitefoot hadn't been watching and he didn't know where she went to. It was a little later that he heard her squeaky little voice.

"Come here, Whitefoot!" called Mrs. Whitefoot. Whitefoot couldn't tell where her voice came from. He climbed down from the shelf and ran around looking for her.

"Come here!" squeaked Mrs. Whitefoot again, and there was a most impatient sound in her voice. "Where are you, my dear?" Where are you? cried Whitefoot, and his voice was just as squeaky as hers.

Suddenly Mrs. Whitefoot popped out right in front of him. "Here I am," said she rather crossly. "Now you follow me."

Whitefoot immediately followed her. Where do you think she led him? Straight into the firebox of the expatriator. Yes, sir, that's where she led him. It was dark in there, Whitefoot didn't think much of the smell of dead ashes, but Mrs. Whitefoot didn't mind this at all. In a corner of that firebox she showed him where she had cleared away the ashes. "Here," said Mrs. Whitefoot, "is where we will make our nest. No one will ever think of looking for us in here."

Whitefoot immediately followed her.

It's the very best place we've ever had. Now we'll get busy and make our nest.

GOVERNOR WINNER IN MICHIGAN RACE

Detroit, September 5.—(AP)—Although he made virtually no campaign and faced a fire of criticism by his opponent, Governor Fred W. Green, republican, was renominated in yesterday's statewide primary by a majority that will range between 225,000 and 235,000.

On returns from 2,737 precincts out of 3,184 in the state the governor polled 371,917 against 164,027 for George W. Welsh, former lieutenant governor.

The governor carried virtually every county in the state, even Wayne (Detroit), where Welsh claimed he would make his best showing. The campaign was entirely devoid of national issues, Welsh making his drive on a bitter criticism of the governor's road-building and financial programs.

Democratic voters seemingly took little interest in the governorship, giving William A. Coughlin, their national committeeman, an unopposed candidate for governor, but 8,858 votes.

They also cast a light vote in the senatorial balloting in which United States Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg and Mayor John W. Bailey, of Battle Creek, were unopposed, respectively, for the republican and democratic nominations.

While Loren D. Dickinson, incumbent, was renominated by the republicans for lieutenant governor over Fred L. Woodworth, of Detroit, and G. Elmer McArthur, of Easton Rapids, a close contest developed for the demo-

DOANOVAN ILLINOIS COMMITTEEMAN

Springfield, Ill., September 5.—(AP) Thomas F. Donovan, of Joliet, chairman of the state democratic committee, tonight was elected democratic national committeeman, the post made vacant by the death of George E. Brennan. He was chosen by the unanimous vote of the state central committee after Michael Igoe, Chicago, had withdrawn.

Until yesterday Igoe had insisted he be given the office, declaring that he was named by Brennan as his political heir.

Democratic leaders apparently were unimpressed by Igoe's declaration. They declared Brennan's dictatorship had brought grief to the democratic party in Illinois and that they wanted no successor to Brennan's throne.

Members of the committee made it plain that the successor to Brennan's office on the national committee was to receive only the honor of the office, not the power which was Brennan's.

A Boy You Should Know

I walked right in and talked to him today. I said, "Good Morning!"

He just grinned and answered, "Hello, won't you sit down?"

That's what I wanted, that is why I followed those footprints into this little red shack, but I told you that yesterday. I wanted to find out all about this boy, so I said, "I followed your footprints on the path—thought I would like to meet you."

"Thank you, I have made many a footprint on that path," he said. "Are you from Watertown?"

"No," I answered; "I am from The Atlanta Constitution."

"I am glad to meet you, sir. I am Hawkins—the boys all call me Seckatary Hawkins."

Great Scott! Here I was talking to the best known and most loved juvenile character of the age! Well, he told me all about himself and this shack, which, by the way, he called a clubhouse.

Was I surprised? Boy, you said it. Why, here I was, right on the old river bank, in the very clubhouse that has seen so many exciting adventures. Right across the river from the Pelhams who give these boys so much trouble. My! I was glad I was here. I completely forgot that I was grown up. All I could think of was that I was with Seckatary Hawkins in his clubhouse. I was a kid again, and I said, "Hawkins, I want to join your club; how about it?"

Hawkins laughed a happy sort of laugh. "If you wait here a few minutes the gang will be here for our daily meeting, and I will put you up for a vote. D'you want to stay?"

Before I could answer there came a shout and scuffling from the porch—the door flew open and the gang came in. Hawkins introduced me to the gang, and I will tell you about that tomorrow.

King Zogu Seeks Friendship

ALBANIAN MONARCH TELLS ASPIRATIONS

Abroad, Liberty at Home

Tirana, Albania, September 5.—(AP)—Friendly relations with neighboring nations and freedom of political thought at home are the objects which Zogu, king of the Albanians, will seek in his reign. He made this plain today in an interview granted to The Associated Press, the first real interview he has given since his status was changed from president to king.

He explained that the change in the Albanian government was made to conform to the history and psychology of his people. He promised that amnesty would be extended to all his opponents, including those political enemies who have fled to other countries. He expressed an intention to adhere to the Kellogg pact and said Albania would be loyal to the League of Nations.

It was a chatty, amiable man, clad in the tight-fitting khaki uniform of a general, who thus frankly discussed his hopes and aspirations. He received the correspondent in the reception hall of what has been the Albanian white house, but now is a king's palace.

His first words were a laughing command to "fire away with your indiscreet questions."

He was asked what changes he contemplated making in Albania's foreign policy and replied:

Peace With World.

"My minister of foreign affairs has already notified all diplomatic representatives in Tirana that Albania will, as heretofore, observe a most peaceful and friendly attitude toward all nations, more especially toward neighboring states and the League of Nations."

Next he was asked why he assumed the title "King of the Albanians" instead of "King of Albania." He pointed out that the former had proved objectionable to neighboring governments which had a considerable Albanian population under their jurisdiction.

"The constituent assembly decided, in exercise of its sovereign prerogative, that I assume that title because I have not inherited the throne," he explained. "The Albanians have offered me by the Albanians so that I cannot be called other than King of the Albanians."

"In giving me this title my people have followed the example of other Balkan peoples who have called their sovereigns not king of a country but of a nation. In Jugoslavia Alexander is called 'King of the Serbs, Croats and Slovenes' and in Bulgaria the sovereign is designated as 'czar of the Bulgarian people.'"

To Sign Kellogg Pact.

The king said that he soon will sign the Kellogg pact for renunciation of war as a national policy. He added: "I value most highly Secretary Kellogg's initiative as something which tends to strengthen the cause of peace among nations. Albania will not be remiss in adhering to this noble cause, sponsored by the great American republic, or to any enterprise inspired by elevating human motives."

He was asked about the amnesty decree which recently liberated almost all the prisoners in Albanian jails. He said this would include not only common criminals and ordinary political prisoners, but even those bitter political opponents who have sought refuge in the United States, Italy, Jugoslavia, Greece, Austria and Switzerland.

The king expressed gratitude for Italy's prompt recognition of his enthronement and said he hoped the United States, "which always has shown a sympathetic interest in and deep moral encouragement for Albanian struggle for a small place in the sun," would soon follow suit.

MRS. JOHN W. MACKAY

DIES IN NEW YORK

Roslyn, N. Y., September 5.—(AP)—Mrs. John W. Mackay, mother of Clarence H. Mackay, of the Postal Telegraph company, died early today at her son's estate here.

Heart disease was the cause of death. At her bedside were her three grandchildren, Mrs. Kenneth O'Brien, Mrs. Irving Berlin and John W. Mackay.

Mrs. Mackay was born in Brooklyn and was about 85 years old.

She met and married John W. Mackay in the west. He was born in Ireland and joined the gold rush in 1849 to California. With three partners he sank in the rich Constock lode the shaft of the famous Bonanza mine. In years this mine produced $300,000,000.

With part of his fortune he founded the Commercial Cable company, which was developed into the present Postal Telegraph and Cable corporation. Clarence H. Mackay is chairman of its board of directors.

John W. Mackay died in San Francisco in 1902. Mrs. Mackay was known in the west as a brilliant hostess and a patron of art and music.

The funeral arrangements will be the return next Tuesday of her son, Clarence, who sailed today on the liner Majestic, from England.

Congress authorized $8,000,000 for construction of the dirigible. The navy has $2,500,000 available for the beginning of construction.

The wreck occurred yesterday at Lyndon, a small station. Its incoherent position delayed the rescue work. A wrecking crew from Milwaukee arrived late last night. The injured were taken here as rapidly as they were released.

FROM OLD WOUND;

SOLDIER STRICKEN

J. J. Bowden, a soldier of the 22nd Infantry, who was wounded in the foot at the fort hospital late Wednesday night in a serious condition from tetanus, which developed suddenly from an old injury, died early Wednesday morning while Bowden was on a downtown street.

He collapsed as he was waiting for a street car on Alabama street and was rushed to Grady hospital, where he remained until removed to the military hospital Wednesday afternoon.

Bowden explained that he received a slight injury about a week ago when he stepped on a rusty nail, but gave the wound little attention. The wound became infected and grew steadily worse until he was seized with convulsions early Wednesday, Tetanus, commonly known as lockjaw, is one of the most dreaded of diseases.

McKellar Protests

Shipping Board's

Advertised Sale

Memphis, Tenn., September 5.—(AP) Protest against the proposed sale of the United States Shipping board's ships and line, advertised for September 15 was made today by Senator Kenneth McKellar in a telegram to T. D. O'Connor, chairman of the board.

"Why do you fix the date of sale just before the date that congress meets?" Senator McKellar's telegram inquired. "Is it because you know that congress does not approve the sale of our ships?"

He asked O'Connor to postpone the date of sale and "give congress a chance to be heard."

HOGS ARE BARRED

FROM CITY LIMITS

BY COUNCIL ACTION

Atlanta hogs have had their inning and will be outlawed within the city limits beginning January 1, 1929, according to an ordinance passed Wednesday by city council. The paper awaits the approval of Mayor I. N. Ragsdale.

Under the new provision the porkers cannot be kept nearer than 300 feet to a dwelling inside the city limits and this is virtually outlawing them in the city, it was explained. The paper was offered by Frank Reynolds, chairman of the sewer committee of city council.

Proposed revision of the sanitary law affecting apartment houses was referred to the finance committee for a recommendation. The new proposal provides that a tax of $3 for every 25 feet of frontage and $1.50 for each apartment be charged in lieu of the $3 charge for each apartment as at present. This would cut the city's revenue at least $200,000 a year.

MARRIED COUPLE,

ALLEGED SPOONERS,

HALED INTO COURT

Chicago, September 5.—(AP)—If you think it is all right for a man and his wife to sit "spooning" in their parked car on a Sunday evening, you don't know River Forest police.

The H. R. Hamiltons were sitting in their car. They said they were watching a fireworks display being elched against the back background of beautiful night. Officers said they were spooning. The Hamiltons, with a confidence born of their matrimonial estate, inquired what of it?

Any married couples interested in welcome to Magistrate Rossman's court September 12, when the matter is to be settled.
